

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Tips on acoustic foam placement/type?

GMS Cvmxron - December 15, 2019, 7:53 pm

So the room im currently building my studio (its small but im dreaming haha) in has some pretty bad high end echo, the hard wood floors dont help at all either. Recently i bought some "acoustic foam" off eBay that was only 20 bucks for a 12 pack of 12"x12" 2" thick squares (Pic Below). It helped some but i know i need more, i also bought some bass traps which i need more of too (didn't realize how small they were ?)

Is there any good brands that are cheap, any you have and like? Also wheres the best place for them in a room with a standard desk facing a wall?

Sorta having a hard time picking my next batch, also need some solid adhesive.

Django - December 16, 2019, 1:52 pm

Honestly, I got mine off Wish.com and they work perfectly. It all comes from the same factory for the most part anyway. Make a rough floorplan of your room in my PMs and I'll help you out bud.

Gotta ask tho, do you rep a set or is your avatar just for the lulz?

GMS Cvmxron - December 16, 2019, 2:04 pm

(Dec 16, 2019 02:52 PM)Django Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, I got mine off Wish.com and they work perfectly. It all comes from the same factory for the most part anyway. Make a rough floorplan of your room in my PMs and I'll help you out bud.

Gotta ask tho, do you rep a set or is your avatar just for the lulz?

Thanks man i figured it wouldn't matter much where i bought it!