forgotmyemail - December 18, 2019, 9:49 pm

5 as of right now, however i'm always surprised by the capability of some people to learn a lot of foreign languages. I know them mostly because my country is very bilingual, and thus we naturally learn 2 extra languages on the side + the fact that my parents are originally from another country adds another language that i grew up learning as a child. However i'd always wanted to learn either chinese or russian.

Spanish is the more than twice as commonly spoken and usually viewed as the easier language to learn from the two because the pronunciation isn't as complex as French.
