Thread: Again had those weird lines in-front of my eyes.

duck - December 21, 2019, 3:35 am

1 minute ago, it has happened.

Right after I flushed my nose, I probably have upcoming cold.

I can't explain what is it like but they were like lines moving, going one side, all of them, there werent that many of 'em but basically just small line, lets say like a sperm but it's black.

Lasted no more than 5 seconds, anyone knows what could that be? Ever had it?

It's most likely this thing called Eye Floaters

Look up "Eye Floaters" because there are multiple reasons it could be happening

I've looked it up earlier but no google images show what I can see.

Those lines what I can see are very clear and are same. They are all going in one direction, and they are same 100% same and CLEAR. Not blurry. It always makes me so confused, totally not sure what that is.

But maybe it is, I never looked it up more as I just denied it by google images.
