The best Kaspersky antivirus software for PC, Laptop and Mobile, Kaspersky Antivirus Review that will help the user to know more about Kaspersky Antivirus.

Lorem Ipsum - December 23, 2019, 3:06 am

I don't understand, are you supporting Kaspersky at the number 1 antivirus software? Or do you need a review why Kaspersky is the best? I've seen people bypassing Kaspersky with their crypter, so I'm cautious when claiming any antivirus to be the best. Either way, I'd love to hear why you think Kaspersky is best.

I agree with you no antivirus is "best" each has their own perks. Some of them are super aggressive. Most crypters I see on hf has about 2-3 days before they start getting picked up.

Well said my man. I am just no big fan of recommending anti-virus programs due to the fact that they are all behind.

Like a Firefighter isn't going to wet a house before it catches fire, same with anti-virus programs. Stupid comparing, but had to name something haha.

I dislike the Windows defender, it works "well" for those who browse the internet for cat photos, social media and email.

Yet when using a Crypter or such thing, the Windows Defender disappoints me. Eset and Avira have been one of my favourites to use, yet I can't claim they are "bullet-proof" too.

Sorry, I meant "Avast Antivirus". I never had issues with them, the only issues I had was.

AVG - made my PC slow

Kaspersky - expensive for basically nothing in protection

Panda - great design but slow in process

Norton - made my PC even slower than AVG

The rest of the programs I tested aren't really worth mentioning. My favourites are Avast and Eset nod32. ?

What's your program of chose my man? And why? Want to look more into those to give others advice as well.

I never recommend anything simply use the brain and for online usage try some extensions most of time it keeps away from problems

AVG and Avast are owned by same one and i'm simply said that it is junk program

I recommend certain programs for family members. My grandpa (one of the 2 I have left) is a huge fan of doing this online.

He is a "real computer guy" as he says. Browsing the elderly-forum, using the email to contact his buddies and such. I love him.

Either way, he's so paranoia because of commercials (hackers, etc) that I had to install anti-virus for him and almost weekly check upon it.

For those people I recommend either Eset Nod32 or Avast.

Use osarmor and use some of their products to harden your security in PC

Say Hi to grandfather

When looking at the tools I think I'll scare him more than calm his mind.

<https://www.novirusthanks.org/browse-by/malware-protection-tools/>

He wants to see, literally, like a green "you're safe" message when opening an antivirus. Every other detail which is unknown for him is triggering his concerns.

He "tried" helping me to fix the internet the last day, by restarting and unplugging his new Printer.

He said his printer could disrupt the internet because it takes electricity from the same socket lol.

Don't get me wrong, not patronising my own family I love him a lot, yet he doesn't get a single thing I tell him.

Will show him the website and ask if he'd like some teaching so he can monitor his own files and delete it when needed. Like bank summaries he's printing.

So does Facebook, Instagram, WhatsApp, VPN's (some) and other companies.

It's all about drawing a personal border of what you except and don't except to use.

Sounds like you care about your privacy, that's a great thing! ?
