

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Speed reading

hose10 - December 24, 2019, 1:56 am

There are people claiming that can read a book a day. Do you believe is possible? Have you read any book about this subject or tried something else?

Dhoroty - December 24, 2019, 2:16 am

Read about it several time, is seems to be possible, but not easy, needs a lot of practice.

There are good apps that help you speed reading stuff, there are multiple methods, check out some.

As I tried some, I could read much faster, but it was also more exhausting.

Rally the Bulls - December 24, 2019, 8:41 am

I don't have the time for that tbh. I barely find time to sit down nowadays, especially with the holidays afoot. Been reading one book on and off for like a month lol.

Mix - December 24, 2019, 8:49 am

It all depends on the size of the book if its game of thrones or harry potter I would call BS but if it's like 10 chapters long then I am sure some people with a few hours can do that with ease.

Fish - December 24, 2019, 8:50 am

I don't personally speed read books, but I have an extension on my browser to speed read websites! It's super useful for reading articles school related

Lorem Ipsum - December 24, 2019, 8:55 am

(Dec 24, 2019 02:56 AM)hose10 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There are people claiming that can read a book a day. Do you believe is possible? Have you read any book about this subject or tried something else?

Yes, there are some books I can read in a day. I must be really focussed and starting early, going to a quit room in the house or visit a library where I spend halve a day. I just don't believe in the 'speed reading' that some of the Asian's are paying for. They literally browse through a book, back and forth, for several times while the 'unconscious' is absorbing the information..

I looked it up and it's China. Please watch this, I thought your thread title was related to the video ?

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1kK5gC0t-bU>

Evax - December 24, 2019, 9:08 am some people can its a strange trait to have.

CHUZI - December 24, 2019, 9:10 am

I can, very easily the problem is, will I remember it after speed reading it? Prolly not. At the same time, will I remember it reading it slowly and normally? Probably not.

I don't read books from A to Z. I usually read and remember only parts of the book, the parts that are interesting for me in some way.

But otherwise yes, I can read a few pages within seconds and then tell you what is it about, I'll likely forget about it in the next few seconds too so....

Aeowulf - December 24, 2019, 9:30 am

You can 'read' that fast... doesn't mean you'll comprehend any of it.

???????????Michael Kors - December 24, 2019, 9:40 am

(Dec 24, 2019 09:50 AM)Fish Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't personally speed read books, but I have an extension on my browser to speed read websites! It's super useful for reading articles school related What is it called?

Fish - December 24, 2019, 9:43 am

(Dec 24, 2019 10:40 AM)???????????Michael Kors Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What is it called?

<https://chrome.google.com/webstore/detail/sprint-reader-speed-readi/kejhpkmajnkpiablnfdppneidnkhdif?hl=en>

> sprint reader

It's honestly, amazing. Yeah you might not comprehend it as much, but if you gotta read a lot and are in a crunch, this will make you understand it real fast.

???????????Michael Kors - December 24, 2019, 9:44 am

(Dec 24, 2019 10:43 AM)Fish Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

<https://chrome.google.com/webstore/detail/sprint-reader-speed-readi/kejhpkmajnkpiablnfdppneidnkhdif?hl=en>

> sprint reader

It's honestly, amazing. Yeah you might not comprehend it as much, but if you gotta read a lot and are in a crunch, this will make you understand it real fast.

I'll give it a look.

Thanks.

Edri - December 24, 2019, 9:44 am

lol it is very various i had read some books in a day at past, definitely possible

Fish - December 24, 2019, 9:45 am

(Dec 24, 2019 10:44 AM)???????????Michael Kors Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'll give it a look.

Thanks.

No problem, just play around with the settings and find ones you like.

Let me know how it goes!

Chief - December 24, 2019, 9:57 am

Just depends on the length of the book and if it's super interesting. I've read a few books pretty quickly but not recently

hose10 - December 24, 2019, 10:40 am

(Dec 24, 2019 09:41 AM)Rally the Bulls Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't have the time for that tbh. I barely find time to sit down nowadays, especially with the holidays afoot. Been reading one book on and off for like a month lol. There are people claiming that you can read way faster with some technics and for people like you this would be very beneficial as you don't have time.

(Dec 24, 2019 09:49 AM)Mix Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It all depends on the size of the book if its game of thrones or harry potter I would call BS but if it's like 10 chapters long then I am sure some people with a few hours can do that with ease. Its all about words per minute. Average people can read max 200-250 but those who know some technics can read 1000+ per minute. You can obviously understand the power it offers if its true.

(Dec 24, 2019 09:55 AM)Lorem Ipsum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes, there are some books I can read in a day. I must be really focussed and starting early, going to a quiet room in the house or visit a library where I spend half a day. I just don't believe in the 'speed reading' that some of the Asians are paying for. They literally browse through a book, back and forth, for several times while the 'unconscious' is absorbing the information..

I looked it up and it's China. Please watch this, I thought your thread title was related to the video ?

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1kK5gC0t-bU> Haha I don't mean this for sure. I am saying about reading more words than average person which is max 250 per minute. If you can increase that to even 500 is too much progress.

(Dec 24, 2019 10:10 AM)CHUZI Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I can, very easily the problem is, will I remember it after speed reading it? Probably not.
At the same time, will I remember it reading it slowly and normally? Probably not.

I don't read books from A to Z. I usually read and remember only parts of the book, the parts that are interesting for me in some way.

But otherwise yes, I can read a few pages within seconds and then tell you what is it about, I'll likely forget about it in the next few seconds too so.... What I mention is about max words per minute.
<https://youtu.be/e2-ahs905MQ>

(Dec 24, 2019 10:30 AM)Guardian Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can 'read' that fast... doesn't mean you'll comprehend any of it. You comprehend much better they claim and you just learn to read more words per minute.

AwakenGP - December 24, 2019, 10:45 am

Depends on the length of a book. I feel like 200 pages can be done

CHUZI - December 24, 2019, 1:35 pm

(Dec 24, 2019 11:40 AM)hose10 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What I mention is about max words per minute.
<https://youtu.be/e2-ahs905MQ>

Is there a way to measure that? When I need to read fast and the sentence is short, I usually just look in the middle and read all of it.
But I can also read, stuff fast in my head.

He might have explained that in the Ted's talk but I sadly have no time at the moment to watch it for 10 minutes, he showed something at 6:30, I can read it two and maybe even three times faster than the yellow mark.

hose10 - December 24, 2019, 2:15 pm

(Dec 24, 2019 02:35 PM)CHUZI Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there a way to measure that? When I need to read fast and the sentence is short, I usually just look in the middle and read all of it.

But I can also read, stuff fast in my head.

He might have explained that in the Ted's talk but I sadly have no time at the moment to watch it for 10 minutes, he showed something at 6:30, I can read it two and maybe even three times faster than the yellow mark.

He just gives a preview so you can search further for it.

I bought a book today to learn more details.

Xerotic - December 24, 2019, 3:09 pm

If I have the entire day then I can read an average sized book.

(Dec 24, 2019 09:49 AM)Mix Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It all depends on the size of the book if its game of thrones or harry potter I would call BS but if it's like 10 chapters long then I am sure some people with a few hours can do that with ease.

Harry Potter books 1-3 are single day books. Books 4-7 might take 2-3 days each.

hose10 - December 25, 2019, 4:38 am

If you are interested check this link: <http://www.efficientreader.com/frolv4/index.php?/login/en/1>

For further information pm me.

langod - December 25, 2019, 6:33 am

I can't even focus to read a book the normal way lmao but yeah I used to know a guy that could speed read.

itcorp - December 25, 2019, 4:21 pm

Fast-read books are mostly light literature a little heavier literature requires more time if you think to understand what you are reading but lately I've been reading only professional literature and I use this mainly as a reference during my work