The disputes are there for people to get involved in, most of the weight they hold comes from the engagement by the community.

You're actually cringe worthy.

Jeez mineral can you stop using my name for once wtf

It's like you are obsessed by me.

Also it's clearly an edited public script i know that because i was one of the first to receive an early version of your script and it was basicly a different script which you broke certain features off and removed codes to have it do what you wanted it to do, the method you delivered with it was simply because you couldn't code well enough to make the script do what your method was describing.

Anyways stop using my name for once jeez fucking kid.

PS: The contract is for an ebook, he leaked a script not your ebook, this dispute is invalid cuz of that.

Bored of all of you, just talking shit with no proof, show me where the "bits" ive used have come from then. You just lie through your teeth legit. You must be stupid if you think you can leak stuff like this and say "oh it didnt say no leaking". You lot have some skewed logic
