Thread: MY VERY OWN FIRST 1BTC

SIM-1472198 - January 3, 2020, 4:48 am

Im only 19 years old, first year on college, and I live in the Philippines, i gamble, i invest, do some part time of selling phones. Earning money here is really hard especially when you are still studying you cannot get a good part time job here, you easily can earn only 200$ per month for sure when you try to be a crew on some fast food chains.

Having 1BTC is really my dream and having a money like this made me happy because of my hard works and everything. My family is not that rich they don't know that I have saved alot of money especially this big one!

Any suggestion on how to be smart and make it bigger? Im thinking of having a online shop, but I think i will be just wasting alot of money because of lack knowledge. Im opening a clothing line here in the Philippines hoping for it to succeed.

Why do I saved it on bitcoin? I think its a smart idea to invest it and make money while doing nothing i guess. I can cash it out anytime I want because cashing out btc here in my country is really easy.

Congratulations! I always wanted to have 1 BTC but I never went for it. Perhaps this is the year I will finally get it.

So if I understand you correctly, you invest in stocks, you gamble and you sell phones for BTC? That's amazing!

If you really make hold of big currencies (not just 1 BTC) in future, I always recommend people to use hardware wallet which is somehow safe and could be unsafe if not cared properly.

Although, congratulations!
