Thread: Image Sharing site -- Performance feedback required.

Noisy - January 6, 2020, 2:12 am

Is an Image Sharing site directed at Speed, Performance & Ease Of Use. The current features allow only for image formats however soon to also expand to other file formats such as documents etc.

We are currently working on the following;

Further performance improvements [////////// 60% /]
CDN Configuration [////////// 80% ///]
Main site Configuration [////////// 80% ///]
External Storage Configuration [////////// 80% ///]
Print Screen Software [///// 40%]

General Performance Information;

All images are hosted on an external server running SSD drives & 1Gbps Uplink which is cached through our CDN network allowing files to be loaded as fast as possible no matter where you are located.

Software;

We are currently developing a software to allow users to easily take screenshots of their desktop (all or specific areas) which then instantly uploads it to our site & gives you a direct image link in a matter of seconds. This will require testing & will be announced on this thread once is available for beta testing.

Please Note;

This is not a release thread, we are looking for constructive feedback on both the general site but primarily feedback on performance both the site & image hosting. Yes we do use a script for the site which is a readily available paid script. However as the name suggest more then just images will be allowed to be hosted which will involve further development of our website by us.

The site is also not at a full release stage of yet, so please keep that in mind. (Beta)

We would love to see some of your images hosted for your thread design, signatures etc! If so comment below if you do would love to check it out! :)

The background image looks good but the text in the center isn't that visible. That text is a important part of the index. Either change the background image to fit the text to make it easily visible or try some other colors.

The uploading speed was quite impressive.
Also, is this something that you guys have created from scratch?

Thanks for the feedback, I'll look into either a new background or fix the text, either way will resolve that! Unfortunately we have not created this, it is a paid script we are using as a foundation to then modify further for our needs. As it is well built & has all features required that did not make sense to get a complete custom one made yet.

I've just gone ahead & improved the performance of the site by more then double! Just finalising the CDN portion which should once again improve the speed of the site even more!

Testing <https://filee.net/image/fxH>

Looks good. Maybe you could change the url structure and remove the "image"?

genesiseher - January 8, 2020, 11:39 pm

lol nice site

Your connection isn't private

Attackers might be trying to steal your information from filee.net (for example, passwords, messages, or credit cards).

SSL / HTTPs should be forced & i haven't had any issues my end, however please let me know if you are still experiencing this or if anyone else as well so i can investigate further.

Thank you,

Nice, it's useful. May I ask, how will you monetize this? It's a great service for the users, but how will you make it pay its server cost?

Server costs are quite low (images barely take up any space) However at a later date possibly a simple donations page. I want to avoid ads on websites (personally hate ads on sites especially when there overdone) however if required may do simple google ads in the future but nothing dramatic a simple little ad down the bottom or something a long those lines, but that would be a last resort.

Currently i'm able to self fund everything without having to worry about costs for a while i believe.

Further improved the speed of the site! Will also have the app ready soon!

Noisy - January 16, 2020, 10:39 pm

Still looking for feedback regarding the site, we have nearly completed setting up everything regarding performance.

deadsh0t - January 17, 2020, 7:55 am

Performance is awesome

<https://filee.net/i/4k-wallpaper-test.P8e>

<https://filee.net/i/road-mount-cook-wallpaper-3840x2400.gDO>

Might change something on the bottom panel it looks so seperated from the rest and the fact that space between everything in the bottompanel is kinda big seems a bit weird. but furthermore looks great!

Allelujah - January 17, 2020, 7:40 pm

Nice! Will be following this :)

Noisy - January 20, 2020, 9:41 pm

Thanks for the feedback, Glad the speed is fast :)

Would love it if you could make it that images are displayed as .webp with a fallback to the original extension if the viewer's browser doesn't support it (apple users)

Also, on your website when you upload an image you should see the links directly and not have to need to click on "embed codes" since that's what you want most of the time.

Looks very professoinal veddy nice, Don't know about the login feel like you should make it a little but open like imgur has it but its just mee

Thank you for the feedback, The 'embed codes' is something i definately want to change, or atleast instantly display one of them & if further codes are required then you're able to view it on the other tab, so will be looking into that.

Not sure what exactly you mean about the login? Guest are able to upload & share images without registration. Registering simply allows you to store your images & create an album etc.

Sorry for the late response, Thank you for the offer currently our servers handle everything without issues due to images barely needing any resources so may be a while till we require an additional server.

no one is using a site that cant even stay online

What happened?

Cloudflare is unable to establish an SSL connection to the origin server.

lol

Looking for a few people to test upload multiple images, been looking into an issue with not being able to upload randomly.

Klonopin - March 11, 2020, 5:45 am

Site is pretty good not gonna lie, keep up the good work op!

EDIT: tested uploading a image and it was quite fast so dont worry about single user performance

grayfox - March 15, 2020, 4:20 am

Always good to have image hosting sites, I've tested it out seems the same like gxf, however good job for making this happen & for continuing to add improvements...

I guess I might be able to create you a new modern design for site, I'm a designer & developer who haven't been doing any projects nearly over a year as I've been working as photographer, but now as I'm getting back I'm looking for new projects to work on and if you are willing to leave small text & link with designed by... text in the corner, hit me up on conversation...

I will create you a new unique design for free! :)

Once again good job, have a huge respect for people running image hosting sites as I'm a designer myself and I really hate when the hosting sites eat the quality of my design and turn it pixelated or when it converts to stupid .JPG... -.-
