Thread: How dangerous is it to actually link cashapp/venmo to my personal credit card

Jared Salazar - January 6, 2020, 4:29 am

How do I cover my ass better? Thanks guys

Justaboywithabag - January 6, 2020, 5:52 am

after your first transaction the fbi will knock at your door... jokes besides, if you're not scamming/blackmailing anyone you should be fine

It's pretty dangerous. If you don't take the proper precaution you may have some horny guy waiting to either kill / touch you or the girl he believes you are outside.

I do cashapp holding services for a small rate :) pm me or discord :D

Just joshing around mate. If you need a service let me know :)

No you're safe 100% . Don't use PP tho :)

There is no danger at all honestly. I use both Venmo and Cashapp for ewhoring. Full legit accounts. Under my own personal name and card. Both are fully verified as well with whatever documents they may have asked for.

I'm going to disagree with you there. I allowed someone to use a venmo for a 15% cut and they got it banned within 2-3 months. However he did promise things and either blocked or scammed so they chargebacked.

So. Dont use Venmo if you're going to block and scam

Or just don't use venmo period ;)
