Thread: Do you ever give +2 reputation out?

SIM-2501407 - January 7, 2020, 9:27 am

I do it every once in a while when I rep people for no apparent reason.

Just curious if anyone else does this or am I the weirdo on the forum?

Takehito Morokuzu - January 7, 2020, 1:12 pm

If I was uber I might have just give them a +3 unless you're repping a lot of people in short amount of time. +2 rep will let you rep more people.

Truth - January 7, 2020, 1:18 pm yea maybe if I can make someone rep a whole number or cool number I would.

James Burnham - January 7, 2020, 1:25 pm

No it's a bit insulting. It's like saying "you have to try hard to get these green pixels". I give either +5 or -5.

Prepper - January 7, 2020, 1:28 pm

I usually just give +3 out

Sometimes I will give like -1, neutral, etc

Yeah, it's more common for me to give a -1 or -2 than a +2.

I have not given a neutral reputation out in years. Most neutral reputations I left back in the day are because there was issue that was resolved.

No. The more green apples, the better lol.

Well if you can tell by my reputation history I don't like to give out negatives or neutrals that much. I try to be the peaceful type of person.

1337GAMER - January 7, 2020, 1:48 pm

I have not repped a +2 yet, but I probably will, depending on the reason for the rep in the first place.

Xerotic - January 7, 2020, 1:51 pm

Not often. Sometimes I'll do a +1, +2, +3, +4, +5, +6, +7, +8, +9, or +10.

Same here - I'm too scared I'll get "revenge repped" and I'd say my popularity rating is almost impeccable - wouldn't want to ruin that!

Depends on my mood, I've done all of em

Aeowulf - January 7, 2020, 7:09 pm

I was literally just thinking about this. ?

Thinking I should give a Leet that +1'd me a +2, instead of a +3, just to be difficult.

Mullet Muscle - January 7, 2020, 7:44 pm

I don't think I've ever given a +2

Until now

Nate - January 8, 2020, 3:11 am

Nope unless im fucking around with a friend, I just give a 3

Deal - January 8, 2020, 3:13 am

It's either -5 or +5. Never neutral or anything else.

OBAMASELF - January 8, 2020, 4:38 am

Too broke to rep other people but I definitely would when I upgrade to Uber. I can at least make the person smile/happy when he receives a positive rep.

SIM-2501407 - January 8, 2020, 6:44 am

Fine, i'll make it a rule to only give +2 reps out.

I'm not gonna lie sometimes I do it when I get a +1 from someone

Blogger - January 8, 2020, 4:40 pm

I give out +3 or -3 only. I should start giving out random rep for random reasons.

No, you're only able to rep 25 people per day as an ub3r I believe.

Not enough motivation to check in everyday. It's rough. I'm at some 80% number and I can't wait until its over. ?

I personally have waves of HF. For a few weeks, I am on every day, then I am not seen for months.

Thats why if (for example, max you can give/take is 5) you give them like -3, and if they revenge rep you bump that shit up to -5 lmao.

Yeah it'd be cool if there was still a counter if you continuously checked in even after the 100 days.

To keep track I just add the (#125) at the bottom of my check-in post.

Then I'd have to look at my post from last day if I forgot, too much of a pain.

A counter would be nice though.

+2ed rep btw :)

rsx - January 8, 2020, 8:06 pm

I may have given a +2 or +1 as an Ub3r just because I see the opportunity to give someone a clean pop number, such as 1000 or 100

SIM-4033767 - January 9, 2020, 4:58 am

Interesting bio, so you think we have the same purpose in life as let's say an inanimate object?

what12345 - January 9, 2020, 8:48 am

I don't even know how to give it out yet!

Lorem Ipsum - January 9, 2020, 8:54 am

No. I only give -1, -2, -3, or +3.

I don't do 0 or +1, +2. It feels like I'm not "approving" them for a +3 which is patronising in my eyes.

Completely irrelevant to the thread.

However, i'll answer your question. There is no "purpose" of life. Your purpose in life is yours to choose.

So what would you say the purpose is? Waste an hour of your life every week, create morals in fear of hell, and do what you can to make it to heaven? All meanwhile having the fear of not knowing if you'll be welcomed to heaven immediately or not.

Try looking into reading the quran with an open heart and open mind and you'll be surprised.

Perhaps I will. I've read it into it, but haven't actually read it directly. I also did a research paper on Islam and that was interesting to say the least. To have an understanding of someone's values will make you understand not only them at an individual level, but their society, their politics. I honestly want to go to Thailand to see the temples of Buddha; they are incredible!

I definitely agree that in general, religion is a great thing. It does give people a moral compass. With so many psychos and depressed people in the world, having something to believe in and follow could save them. And aside from those groups of people, it just brings people together and who want to do better. I think the idea of an after-life is absurd, but I do think Churches and people who are religious typically do good things. They do mission trips, want to spread peace, and are one of the limited places internationally that will accept everyone.

I think acceptance and understanding is a key aspect that is severely lacked on a national and international level.
