Thread: /Dev/Null:Ports Beta Release

Xerotic - January 7, 2020, 12:44 pm

Today is the official beta release for HF's unique /Dev/Null:Ports game! To read more information about the rules of the game, check out this thread: /Dev/Null : Ports

Accessing the game is simple. Click on the game icon on any HF page (desktop: to the left of the notification bell / mobile: click your avatar in the top left) and then click "/Dev/Null:Ports". You will be brought straight to the game and you can find a match from there!

Here is a direct link: <https://hackforums.net/devnullports.php>

Currently our beta version does not support specific player invites or wagering. That is coming soon. You will just play the next person in queue right now. Game turns do not have any time limitations yet but you can choose to forfeit the game from the "home" tab if a player goes offline. At this point in time you will not be penalized for forfeitures.

Feel free to post any comments, suggestions, or questions below.

Enjoy the game!

Finally it's live. Just got back after around 2 months and here it is A NEW GAME.

eXceptional - January 7, 2020, 12:49 pm

I'm playing the game right now and in a match now. I had a few issues playing on mobile. Couldn't click while attacks on mobile.

Not sure if I'm wrong here but a bit confused. I hope I win the current match.

Edit: I lost.

Invisible - January 7, 2020, 12:49 pm

Awesome! Will definitely try it out when I get some time.

You just must find the opponents CPU, if you must attack choose what type of attack and try to roll the right number with the "dice" device. The opponent must defend or ignore the attack and sent an empty file back (Dev/Null: Ports).

How about we worry about making sure the game isn't buggy and has all the feature we want before we start rewarding you? What the fuck is wrong with you btw? Are you 12 or something?

Edited out this part - misunderstood the content.
May I ask. I was happy to win with Dr. Einyal or whatever his name is, yet I can't find any log of wins/losses. Could you tell me if there is a log-file to check ?

In a match with Cooligan. We're just playing safe. We'll give this a try after I am done with the current match.

That data is being logged. We are not yet displaying it. Potentially we will reset the tables in the next version anyways to give stats a clean slate. Likely the tables will need changes for wagering.

Current form of the game is to test game play itself with no consequences, rewards or additional feature integrations with HF. We have lots of plans for the game but first we want it working to our requirements.

btw, I just had 2 very exciting and fun games with members. The game is genuinely fun and addicting.

I can confirm this was indeed the case, seeing how I was your opponent. Even though the opponent's CPU was found and attacked successfully, the message that 'I lost' was incorrectly displayed. The tabs were also bugged out and had to manually switch them all the time because the focus was on the wrong one.

I agree with this.

A timer for moves would be nice, say 3 minutes max per move for now until people get more familiarized with the game.

Also a chat option would be amazing to have. Either that or a quick link to open up a Convo chat with your opponent in another tab or preferably a pop-up window. ?

Chat function would only slow down the game I think or being abused by others to gain XP / in-game cash (if there is ever going to be a reward for winning).

I'd suggest the timer first before implementing any chat functions. Just my thoughts to haha.

No, this is actually temporary. If you forfeit you will be charged some amount of Bytes maybe. AFK'ers will have a time limit added so there will less AFK's and you don't have to forfeit. Avoid forfeiting.

Yes that's what I was implying, what Xero said about it, that for now forfeitures don't effect anything. Who knows what it'll be in the near future.

Hello, just tried it, and looks great! (although I lost.. ?).

If you don't mind, I got a suggestion: on the looser screen the opponent's CPU pos should be visible, to allow learning about the opponent's tactics. Also would cause headaches, that "why I don't tried it one more time", ..

MavenGradle - January 8, 2020, 10:01 am

Figured out the bug in which it displays that you lose even if you find the opponent's CPU. It happens when both parties have no attacks left, at which point the game switches its logic around and thinks you lose if you actually win.

Xerotic - January 8, 2020, 10:01 am

I agree with that. It's so frustrating when you are attacking an opponent port multiple times and they are hitting yours offline in one round. ??

Nas - January 8, 2020, 10:41 am

So after playing a few games, I have a few suggestions:

1) Being able to have both the opponent's card and my card visible at the same time. The game sometimes moves fast and it's tedious going back and forth and also confusing if you're playing late at night as there is no background indication or color indication letting you know if you're viewing your opponent's card or your owns.

2) Go against an AI as practice or if not many people are online. I'm sure you guys thought of this already though.

3) Have multiple options of viruses/defenses that you're able to pick which loadout you want before entering a game. This gives it a sense of skill rather than absolute luck and strategy. There can be many different loadout options depending on your playstyle on how you want to go around at winning.

4) Recommend adding a tutorial against an AI for people who are new.

Overall really fun mini-game. I have really been enjoying it and I know this is still in beta and I'm sure you guys thought of most the ideas I already stated but just wanted to say them anyways.

What about being able to start multiple games at the same time? This may be limited to 2-4 simultaneous games. To me it would be like playing multiple chess games at the same time with different users, which is something you can do inside certain online platforms. This would be even more cool if alerts were integrated with the game, so that you know it's time for you to move in a given match.

It's a combination of strategy and luck to win the game. Your play options allow you to consider various strategies but the rolls add enough luck to the game that anyone can win (or loss) no matter their skill level. But a good strategy is sound to helping you win. Viewing carefully the opponents resources and trying to keep them away from your CPU by bluffing defenses. And making decisions about your own resources is part of the strategy too.

Introducing...

/Dev/Null: Ports Timers! <https://hackforums.net/devnullports.php>

Each turn has a 20 second timer associated with it. If you run out of time you miss out on your turn!

If you are in "Pick a port" turn you will.... skip your turn.

If you are in "Deny or /Dev/Null" turn you will... choose /Dev/Null.

If you are in "Pick attack" turn you will... skip your turn.

If you are in "Defense or /Dev/Null" turn you will... choose /Dev/Null.

Enjoy! Now any AFK'ers will be penalized in game.

Not enough people are queuing for games. I'd love to give it a go but can't find any games.

Been really excited for a new game as well, gonna keep trying tonight if anyone wants a game with me.
