

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Started a \(temp\) pizza delivery job

Clock - January 8, 2020, 5:47 pm

Used half a tank of gas in 6 hours and walked out with $1.50. Don't have enough gas to even make it back for my next shift... fucking great.

Grim - January 8, 2020, 5:48 pm

Dude the struggle is real. im not sure what location your at but where i am most people tip the pizza delivery people pretty well

Trip - January 8, 2020, 5:48 pm

Yeah, I understand you gotta start somewhere. That just doesn't sound like it's worth your time or wear on your vehicle. GL though

Grey - January 8, 2020, 5:49 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 06:48 PM)Grim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dude the struggle is real. im not sure what location your at but where i am most people tip the pizza delivery people pretty well

If I had to guess it's people buy pizzas with credit cards a lot more often now and feel less inclined to leave tips on the receipt, let alone have cash on them

Grim - January 8, 2020, 5:51 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 06:49 PM)Grey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If I had to guess it's people buy pizzas with credit cards a lot more often now and feel less inclined to leave tips on the receipt, let alone have cash on them

Thats pretty fucked up though lol because most the time (depending on what pizza place you use) they can see that you left no tip..Seems like a good way for people to mess up or do stuff to your food.

Aeowulf - January 8, 2020, 5:54 pm

Damn, that's terrible. I always tip delivery drivers better than waiters. Waiters and waitresses have multiple tables in a small area. Drivers have to use their vehicle to deliver to 1-2 houses at a time and waste a lot of time traveling.

I see it as paying them for the time it saved me to drive and pick it up. But you always hear the waiters/waitresses gripe about tips.

StickTalk - January 8, 2020, 5:55 pm

The main reason why I would never work as a pizza delivery boy. That shit sucks. Recently I just landed a factory job making 18.50 an hour. I guess its decent.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:00 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 06:51 PM)Grim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thats pretty fugged up though lol because most the time (depending on what pizza place you use) they can see that you left no tip..Seems like a good way for people to mess up or do stuff to your food.

Yeah people just don't understand. I've worked for the same place many years before. Since then all the staff have change out and they pretty much kept giving me the no-tip or shitty long runs cause I'm the new guy. Gonna hit up my brother and see if he can throw me enough gas to make it out for my next shift.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:03 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 06:48 PM)Grim Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dude the struggle is real. im not sure what location your at but where i am most people tip the pizza delivery people pretty well

Tipping is toxic culture and something that people shouldn't do. If these companies want to keep their drivers they need to pay them a living and usage on their vehicles.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:07 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:03 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Tipping is toxic culture and something that people shouldn't do. If these companies want to keep their drivers they need to pay them a living and usage on their vehicles.

The solution to the tipping issue is not to not tip people, you're just fucking over everyday people at that point. Coming from someone who's spent half their working life at jobs where employees should be tipped.

James Burnham - January 8, 2020, 6:08 pm

Where are you from? Doesn't the business you work for pay you? You rely on tips?

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:08 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:08 PM)Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Where are you from? Doesn't the business you work for pay you? You rely on tips?

I make $5/hour + tips. That's it.

Grey - January 8, 2020, 6:08 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:08 PM)Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Where are you from? Doesn't the business you work for pay you? You rely on tips?

In the US there is cutouts in the law that say the minimum wage doesn't apply to certain service jobs and companies can legally pay you around $3/hour.

-Sexy- - January 8, 2020, 6:09 pm

This is why I couldn't do it. I just feel people are less inclined to tip which I understand to a point. I always tip because I know that's what makes it worth it to the driver not the company. I also never write on the tip line but I don't think it matters they still end up reporting it most likely.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:10 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:08 PM)Grey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In the US there is cutouts in the law that say the minimum wage doesn't apply to certain service jobs and companies can legally pay you around $3/hour.

Most wait staff get paid $2.50-$4.00/hour, I make around $5.20 hourly.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:11 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:08 PM)Grey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In the US there is cutouts in the law that say the minimum wage doesn't apply to certain service jobs and companies can legally pay you around $3/hour.

I doubt this ever happens, but they're supposed to pay them minimum wage if they don't make enough.

So you could just say you never got tips, and get minimum wage on top of it.

"The minimum wage for all other employees is $7.25 an hour. The assumption is that you'll make the other $5.12 and hour in tips, which is normally true. If you don't, your employer is required to pay you the difference."

James Burnham - January 8, 2020, 6:12 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:08 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I make $5/hour + tips. That's it.

And who pays the gas? You or the company?

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:14 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:12 PM)Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And who pays the gas? You or the company? Luckily trucking companies pay for gas and you get benefits and everything. This pizza driving gig doesn't sound worth

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:15 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:11 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I doubt this ever happens, but they're supposed to pay them minimum wage if they don't make enough.

So you could just say you never got tips, and get minimum wage on top of it.

"The minimum wage for all other employees is $7.25 an hour. The assumption is that you'll make the other $5.12 and hour in tips, which is normally true. If you don't, your employer is required to pay you the difference."

That rarely happens though. The place I work at specifically has been sued 5+ times for not paying drivers minimum wage. During all the lawsuits they reached out to drivers from our company and got one massive lawsuit going. I never became a part of the lawsuit as I didn't want retaliation (loss of job or something) but I heard the payouts weren't enough to make up for most of the drivers wages they weren't paid.

(Jan 8, 2020 07:12 PM)Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And who pays the gas? You or the company? I think I get like 35 cents a mile, so technically they do but I'd argue that it doesn't cover gas. Plus I have to pay extra for insurance because I'm using my vehicle for "commercial" purposes.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:17 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:15 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That rarely happens though. The place I work at specifically has been sued 5+ times for not paying drivers minimum wage. During all the lawsuits they reached out to drivers from our company and got one massive lawsuit going. I never became a part of the lawsuit as I didn't want retaliation (loss of job or something) but I heard the payouts weren't enough to make up for most of the drivers wages they weren't paid.

I think I get like 35 cents a mile, so technically they do but I'd argue that it doesn't cover gas. Plus I have to pay extra for insurance because I'm using my vehicle for "commercial" purposes.

Go and get your cdl. There's companies out there that will pay for you to go their training center, but you have to sign a 2 year contract with them.

Real possibilities man, but you have to be 21.

Wafflemonger - January 8, 2020, 6:18 pm

A shift lead I used to work with in the past had the mentality of, "It's not my job to ensure they're paid properly, so I don't tip." For me, I personally tip based on the job they do. Usually by default I give 10% just for showing up on-time and being polite. If they're an ass, late (sometimes out of their control), or just all around bad at their job, I give 0%. Never reward bad behaviour.

If they're exceptional, I give 20%. There was one delivery driver I gave 25% to. Always would deliver to us and he'd actually ask how my family was doing, and struck up a mini conversation. Always reward those that take pride in their work :).

SIM-3257834 - January 8, 2020, 6:19 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:03 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Tipping is toxic culture and something that people shouldn't do. If these companies want to keep their drivers they need to pay them a living and usage on their vehicles.

Ah yea let fuck the working man because of a corporation fault. Why do college kids and gen Zers like to fuck the working man vs the corporations?

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:19 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:17 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Go and get your cdl. There's companies out there that will pay for you to go their training center, but you have to sign a 2 year contract with them.

Real possibilities man, but you have to be 21.

I've considered trying to get a CDL but they drug test, and thats a problem lmao. I know its not smart but If I can afford it I'll be ripping my bong till the day I die. Plus I honestly feel like I'd kill someone behind the wheel of a semi. I'll take a look into it though and see what I can figure out.

(Jan 8, 2020 07:19 PM)Cake Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ah yea let fugg the working man because of a corporation fault. Why do college kids and gen Zers like to fugg the working man vs the corporations?

This exactly.

"I don't like how this company manages themselves, so I'm going to try to ensure the guy making less than 10 bucks an hour can't pay his rent. That'll show them!"

James Burnham - January 8, 2020, 6:21 pm

If I were in US I would do what Bandors did. Become a digital nomad in south Asia.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:22 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:21 PM)Burnham Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If I were in US I would do what Bandors did. Become a digital nomad in south Asia.

What? I don't understand. Googled "Bandors Asia" and found nothing. What is this lol?

James Burnham - January 8, 2020, 6:25 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:22 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What? I don't understand. Googled "Bandors Asia" and found nothing. What is this lol?

Bandors is a hf member <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=1189774>

If I remember correctly, he won 30k gambling in Bustabit and left to Thailand

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:26 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:24 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Times are tough buddy, I always tip well wherever I go . Since it's been such a tough day I'll send yah a lil skrilla so you can get some gas .

Ah no worries man, my bank account is overdrafted anyway. Think a friend is gonna throw me $5.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:26 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:19 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've considered trying to get a CDL but they drug test, and thats a problem lmao. I know its not smart but If I can afford it I'll be ripping my bong till the day I die. Plus I honestly feel like I'd kill someone behind the wheel of a semi. I'll take a look into it though and see what I can figure out.

You don't have to drive a semi. There's lots of options like driving a dump truck and construction equipment. You have to get a medical card every two years, but companies will pay you quite a bit. If your not into semi's it's pretty easy getting a class b. Most dumptrucks are not even manuals anymore so it's like driving a car. The hard part is class a.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:29 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:19 PM)Cake Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ah yea let fugg the working man because of a corporation fault. Why do college kids and gen Zers like to fugg the working man vs the corporations?

Yeah, I know it's not right most of the time I tip the drivers. I was just saying it's wrong of companies exploiting their drivers. It's not even the pizza delivery it's happening in lots of trucking companies and delivery services.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:31 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:26 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You don't have to drive a semi. There's lots of options like driving a dump truck and construction equipment. You have to get a medical card every two years, but companies will pay you quite a bit. If your not into semi's it's pretty easy getting a class b. Most dumptrucks are not even manuals anymore so it's like driving a car. The hard part is class a.

Ah a clutch is no issue for me. Been driving manual since I was 17, but imagine in a much larger vehicle it does just make the hassle that much bigger.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:33 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:29 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Post office hires on at 18.20 an hour for a rural carrier they drug test once but if you want to learn how to pass a drug test I can help you there also . But realistically if you can't put the blunt down for a couple months to secure the real bag then you gotta step it up .

I haven't had enough cash to get weed in a few months, but I'd be afraid of random testing. This is pretty much temporary while me and my friend setup a little headshop online together. He's the financial backing/dealing with wholesale and I'm doing the tech side of everything. Then I can't get fired for smoking weed! lmao

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:33 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:31 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ah a clutch is no issue for me. Been driving manual since I was 17, but imagine in a much larger vehicle it does just make the hassle that much bigger.

Yeah, it's scary at the start but it's so rewarding. The asshole car drivers are another story. They don't stop fast and you brakecheck a semi your asking to die.

(Jan 8, 2020 07:29 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Post office hires on at 18.20 an hour for a rural carrier they drug test once but if you want to learn how to pass a drug test I can help you there also . But realistically if you can't put the blunt down for a couple months to secure the real bag then you gotta step it up .

You have any thoughts on the whole self driving their trying so hard to replace drivers?

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:36 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:27 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How much you over ?

Like 70 bucks! I'll figure something out though. Once they stop sticking me with shit deliveries (hopefully next shift) I should make around like $60-$120 a night. At least from what other drivers say. It's just because I've worked there prior so one of the managers was basically like "yeah u get it take a delivery and do your thing" and then the other hardass manager would step in and explain to me how to read a receipt and use google maps then tell me to take X delivery (the shitty ones).

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:37 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:36 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Like 70 bucks! I'll figure something out though. Once they stop sticking me with Clay Davis deliveries (hopefully next shift) I should make around like $60-$120 a night. At least from what other drivers say. It's just because I've worked there prior so one of the managers was basically like "yeah u get it take a delivery and do your thing" and then the other hardass manager would step in and explain to me how to read a receipt and use google maps then tell me to take X delivery (the shitty ones).

I've always wondered with delivery jobs do you just deliver? Or do they try to make you create the product.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:39 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:33 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, it's scary at the start but it's so rewarding. The asshole car drivers are another story. They don't stop fast and you brakecheck a semi your asking to die.

You have any thoughts on the whole self driving their trying so hard to replace drivers?

Honestly it's a thing but human conscience will never be able to be fully simulated by AI. Getting a car to drive somewhere is one thing but then forcing someone to walk down like 50 steps and into a parkinglot to get it (in an apartment setting) would be another heap of trouble for them since at that point pizza delivery would have previously been to your door.

Honestly that's why I stopped working for them in the first place. Someone ran a stopsign and I t-boned them doing 50MPH and just didn't have the money to fix my car or get another.

(Jan 8, 2020 07:37 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've always wondered with delivery jobs do you just deliver? Or do they try to make you create the product.

Depends on the setting. Previous experience with them was purely delivery, food prep, and taking orders. Seems like it'll be similar this time around.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:42 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:39 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly it's a thing but human conscience will never be able to be fully simulated by AI. Getting a car to drive somewhere is one thing but then forcing someone to walk down like 50 steps and into a parkinglot to get it (in an apartment setting) would be another heap of trouble for them since at that point pizza delivery would have previously been to your door.

Honestly that's why I stopped working for them in the first place. Someone ran a stopsign and I t-boned them doing 50MPH and just didn't have the money to fix my car or get another.

Depends on the setting. Previous experience with them was purely delivery, food prep, and taking orders. Seems like it'll be similar this time around.

So they make you prep food while only making 2-3 dollars that doesn't sound right.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:45 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:42 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So they make you prep food while only making 2-3 dollars that doesn't sound right.

I make around $5.20 or so. It's just one of the major pizza delivery brands in the US so it's pretty BS. As long as the customers tip I have the possibility of making $10-15 an hour.

(Jan 8, 2020 07:44 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Won't be possible . World wouldn't function without the mailmen . I don't personally work there anymore but it's not a job that just an average joe can work . The turn over rate is so high because they have the carriers working 17 hour days and expect them to be back the next day and not to call in on the 7 days a week they work . My buddy didn't have a day off in 6 months he had to call in to get a day off it was tough .

No . They have people who cook the pizzas and people who deliver the pizzas lmao . Maybe a ma and pa shop do both but not a chain .

Previously working for them I was boxing/cutting pizzas, taking orders, and doing prep inbetween deliveries. Only thing I didn't work was makeline that actually made the pizzas and put them in the oven. They use you all over.

Cash Dmi - January 8, 2020, 6:48 pm

where im at, the tips get taken out of your paycheck.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:49 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:48 PM)Cash Dmi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) where im at, the tips get taken out of your paycheck. What do you mean? You get tips nightly + paycheck or?

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:54 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:44 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Won't be possible . World wouldn't function without the mailmen . I don't personally work there anymore but it's not a job that just an average joe can work . The turn over rate is so high because they have the carriers working 17 hour days and expect them to be back the next day and not to call in on the 7 days a week they work . My buddy didn't have a day off in 6 months he had to call in to get a day off it was tough .

Cdl jobs require that you can only drive for 11 hours a day for 8 day period then then you get 34 hours off no matter what

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:58 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:56 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Those are cdl jobs though, post office is literally exempt from anything . 17 hour day's they literally have cord and showers in some of the stations so you don't even drive home lmao .

That's fucking ass. I've worked 17+ hour days from home but fucking driving that long for someone else.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 6:58 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:56 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Those are cdl jobs though, post office is literally exempt from anything . 17 hour day's they literally have cord and showers in some of the stations so you don't even drive home lmao .

That sounds bad what do you do if you can't drive any further? Like you get fatigued so bad you can't drive. Also quick question do they have cameras that watch you if you hit the brake too hard

Cash Dmi - January 8, 2020, 6:59 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:49 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you mean? You get tips nightly + paycheck or?yes. I was getting paid $10.50 per hour and i worked in a rich neighborhood so i making around $60 in tips every night. At the end of the night i had to do paper work and write down how much i got in tips, so that the manager can take it out of my paycheck.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 6:59 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:58 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That sounds bad what do you do if you can't drive any further? Like you get fatigued so bad you can't drive. Also quick question do they have cameras that watch you if you hit the brake too hard

Usually GPS trackers. Last place I worked that had people delivering in company vehicles (not food) would email the district manager if you turned too hard, accelerated too hard, went 1MPH over the speed limit, braked too hard, went over X RPM, made traction control kick in, etc.

Francis Gallagher - January 8, 2020, 6:59 pm

Bro $1.50 tips for an entire shift? That's so fucked up. I tried to get a delivery job with a pizza chain, and got denied because of a visible tattoo. I laughed at the lady as I walked out the door of their building that is falling apart. It's crazy the way service jobs like food delivery/waiters and waitresses get paid shit because people are expected to tip. I shouldn't be expected to tip so the person can pay their bills, but because I enjoy their service. I sometimes tip the trash people with beer/money if I have a lot of trash. Imagine if I HAD to do that or "feel bad" because they can't fill their trash truck with gas for the rest of their shift.

We need to move away from this culture, stop being so fucking greedy, and pay a damn living wage to EVERYONE. It's truly sad to me that we are at a point in history where greed means more than humanity. I really hope you get a better job or at least start getting tips OP. If I had any $$ to throw your way I would send you some to get you through. But I just had some unexpected bills come up. It's 8 days into 2020 this is your year man, it's a new decade. Don't settle for the bullshit.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:00 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:59 PM)Cash Dmi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) yes. I was getting paid $10.50 per hour and i worked in a rich neighborhood so i making around $60 in tips every night. At the end of the night i had to do paper work and write down how much i got in tips, so that the manager can take it out of my paycheck.

They take your tips? Thats fucking ass. I would have walked out with my tips the first night.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:01 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:59 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bro $1.50 tips for an entire shift? That's so fugged up. I tried to get a delivery job with a pizza chain, and got denied because of a visible tattoo. I laughed at the lady as I walked out the door of their building that is falling apart. It's crazy the way service jobs like food delivery/waiters and waitresses get paid Clay Davis because people are expected to tip. I shouldn't be expected to tip so the person can pay their bills, but because I enjoy their service. I sometimes tip the trash people with beer/money if I have a lot of trash. Imagine if I HAD to do that or "feel bad" because they can't fill their trash truck with gas for the rest of their shift.

We need to move away from this culture, stop being so fugging greedy, and pay a damn living wage to EVERYONE. It's truly sad to me that we are at a point in history where greed means more than humanity. I really hope you get a better job or at least start getting tips OP. If I had any $$ to throw your way I would send you some to get you through. But I just had some unexpected bills come up. It's 8 days into 2020 this is your year man, it's a new decade. Don't settle for the bullsnap. Gotta do what I gotta do in the meantime. They should start giving me better deliveries and doubles next shift.

Cash Dmi - January 8, 2020, 7:03 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:00 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They take your tips? Thats fugging ass. I would have walked out with my tips the first night.

you walk out with your tips every night but it gets deducted from your paycheck.

Francis Gallagher - January 8, 2020, 7:04 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:01 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Gotta do what I gotta do in the meantime. They should start giving me better deliveries and doubles next shift.

I agree. They need to give you better deliveries. Considering you get a check every 2 weeks eh?

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:05 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:03 PM)Cash Dmi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) you walk out with your tips every night but it gets deducted from your paycheck.

I'm saying I would have taken the tips, told them to fuck themselves, and found another job. Anyplace that takes employees tips isn't worth working for.

(Jan 8, 2020 08:04 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree. They need to give you better deliveries. Considering you get a check every 2 weeks eh?

Every two weeks, expect $200-$250.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:08 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:06 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Working at home is hardly working lol you're in the comfort of your own home.

Well it depends on the work. I went from working 12 hour shifts 5-6 days a week to pulling 12-24 hour shifts from home. It's harder work but at least I was at home.

Francis Gallagher - January 8, 2020, 7:09 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:05 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm saying I would have taken the tips, told them to fugg themselves, and found another job. Anyplace that takes employees tips isn't worth working for.

Every two weeks, expect $200-$250.

I really hope you find something better fast, or get more work. That is no living wage at all. Not even with the cheapest bills possible.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 7:09 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 07:59 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bro $1.50 tips for an entire shift? That's so fugged up. I tried to get a delivery job with a pizza chain, and got denied because of a visible tattoo. I laughed at the lady as I walked out the door of their building that is falling apart. It's crazy the way service jobs like food delivery/waiters and waitresses get paid Clay Davis because people are expected to tip. I shouldn't be expected to tip so the person can pay their bills, but because I enjoy their service. I sometimes tip the trash people with beer/money if I have a lot of trash. Imagine if I HAD to do that or "feel bad" because they can't fill their trash truck with gas for the rest of their shift.

We need to move away from this culture, stop being so fugging greedy, and pay a damn living wage to EVERYONE. It's truly sad to me that we are at a point in history where greed means more than humanity. I really hope you get a better job or at least start getting tips OP. If I had any $$ to throw your way I would send you some to get you through. But I just had some unexpected bills come up. It's 8 days into 2020 this is your year man, it's a new decade. Don't settle for the bullsnap. I had to have a surgery or I could be paralyzed.

If you had insurance you had to pay 5 grand and insurance would cover the rests. You would pay monthly on your deductible.

I went the route of not using insurance and only paid 3 grand upfront. So why is insurance more expensive than no insurance.

It doesn't make sense.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:11 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:09 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I really hope you find something better fast, or get more work. That is no living wage at all. Not even with the cheapest bills possible.

They should start giving me better deliveries. Expenses are around the tune of $1,000 for rent and food if I'm living extremely modestly.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 7:11 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:05 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Every two weeks, expect $200-$250.

Go find a plant job or something that don't sound right.

Fish - January 8, 2020, 7:11 pm

That's crazy, whenever I order pizza to school, the driver ALWAYS has a sob story. He just had surgery, dog just died, he has lots of pain (and the list goes on...). That's what they do here to get tips lmao.

If they give me a sob story I give a shit tip, if they are doing their job properly, then I give a reasonable 20%

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:12 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:10 PM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Physically hard or mentally hard ? Can't compare jobs that are inside in heat or ac with comfort of your own clothes on your own time to a job that is in all temperatures in uniform attempting to not fall out from dehydration or exhaustion lol

I was set schedule working nights, starting around 8pm-1am depending on the night. No A/C.

Old job had A/C, lol.

(Jan 8, 2020 08:11 PM)Fish Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's crazy, whenever I order pizza to school, the driver ALWAYS has a sob story. He just had surgery, dog just died, he has lots of pain (and the list goes on...). That's what they do here to get tips lmao.

If they give me a sob story I give a Clay Davis tip, if they are doing their job properly, then I give a reasonable 20%

I usually don't consider the cost of whatever I'm ordering when it comes to delivery. I usually factor the service and the distance considering that a lot of the times a 20% tip will simply pay for the gas it took them to come to my house and back. Keep in mind haven't had the cash to order anything in months.

(Jan 8, 2020 08:11 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Go find a plant job or something that don't sound right. There's pretty much just service jobs around here.

Francis Gallagher - January 8, 2020, 7:15 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:09 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I had to have a surgery or I could been paralyzed.

If you had insurance you had to pay 5 grand and insurance would cover the rests. You would pay monthly on your deductible.

I went the route of not using insurance and only paid 3 grand upfront. So why is insurance more expensive than no insurance.

It doesn't make sense.

None of it makes fucking sense. I went from having a job and paying like $225 a month for insurance, to quitting and them offering it to me for $700 a month. The structure of pricing in our country is fucked.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:16 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:15 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) None of it makes fugging sense. I went from having a job and paying like $225 a month for insurance, to quitting and them offering it to me for $700 a month. The structure of pricing in our country is fugged.

Shit that's almost as much as I pay for rent. At that rate just let me fucking die.

SIM-2501407 - January 8, 2020, 7:22 pm

That's f*cking ridiculous.

You should say screw it and do something else.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 7:23 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:16 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Clay Davis that's almost as much as I pay for rent. At that rate just let me fugging die.

Yeah, I'm a few thousand in debt. It sucks but what can you do. I'm starting wound vac this week twice a week just so I can heal my huge wound and work again. Luckily, my family is helping me out but I'm carrying huge debt each week that I can't work. First they were getting a long wood stick and shoving padding inside my body but it's not working...

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:24 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:23 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, I'm a few thousand in debt. It sucks but what can you do. I'm starting wound vac this week twice a week just so I can heal my huge wound and work again. Luckily, my family is helping me out but I'm carrying huge debt each week that I can't work. First they were getting a long wood stick and shoving padding inside my body but it's not working...

What the fuck happened to you? Holy shit

Trip - January 8, 2020, 7:28 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:24 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What the fugg happened to you? Holy Clay Davis I developed a cyst while I was in cdl school. It sat there for months and stuff. It grew in my lower back and was going to my spine. They rushed me to a surgeon the next business day and put me under and cut me up with a chainsaw looks like. Now I'm having wound problems not healing right. Its all jacked up parts cut off to seal another part and holes. It's so damn bad I'm leaking fluid and it smells so they're sucking it out like a vacuum.

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:30 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:28 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I developed a cyst while I was in cdl school. It sat there for months and stuff. It grew in my lower back and was going to my spine. They rushed me to a surgeon the next business day and put me under and cut me up with a chainsaw looks like. Now I'm having wound problems not healing right. Its all jacked up parts cut off to seal another part and holes. It's so damn bad I'm leaking fluid and it smells so they're sucking it out like a vacuum.

Damn dude, hope that shit gets resolved. Sounds like complete ass.

Trip - January 8, 2020, 7:31 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:30 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn dude, hope that Clay Davis gets resolved. Sounds like complete ass.

Anyways back to topic don't pizza places charge for the pizza then a delivery fee then you tip the driver what does the delivery fee do

Clock - January 8, 2020, 7:35 pm

(Jan 8, 2020 08:31 PM)Trip Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Anyways back to topic don't pizza places charge for the pizza then a delivery fee then you tip the driver what does the delivery fee do

If that location is a franchise it may go to the franchise but don't quote me on that. You can at least bet it goes to the corporation (ie dominos or pizza hut)

nicemanforlife - January 8, 2020, 9:01 pm

Blackcracken are you the guy from online casino programs and gambling egames?

zFacetious - January 8, 2020, 9:35 pm

Some places don't even pay they just say you keep your tips. I hope you find something better

Clock - January 9, 2020, 8:23 am

(Jan 8, 2020 10:01 PM)nicemanforlife Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Blackcracken are you the guy from online casino programs and gambling egames?

I don't gamble, so no. lol

Is there someone else on the net that uses this name?

Nate - January 10, 2020, 9:59 pm

I'm working 2 part time jobs paying over 4k a week :)

Clock - January 10, 2020, 10:01 pm

(Jan 10, 2020 10:59 PM)N?te Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm working 2 part time jobs paying over 4k a week :)

At my highest that's about what I've made in 4 months. Luckily this job is getting better and better but still not enough.

Nate - January 10, 2020, 10:08 pm

(Jan 10, 2020 11:01 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) At my highest that's about what I've made in 4 months. Luckily this job is getting better and better but still not enough.

its good money for me as im a student

SIM-4033767 - January 11, 2020, 3:20 am

Keep it up and don't give up everyone starts somewhere!

Clock - January 11, 2020, 3:33 am

(Jan 11, 2020 04:20 AM)Seora ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Keep it up and don't give up everyone starts somewhere!

I mean this isn't my first job. I'm literally just a grown ass man in hard times.

SIM-4033767 - January 11, 2020, 3:40 am

(Jan 11, 2020 04:33 AM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I mean this isn't my first job. I'm literally just a grown ass man in hard times.

I hope you will be in a better state soon bro

Vibe - January 11, 2020, 3:53 am

(Jan 8, 2020 07:07 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The solution to the tipping issue is not to not tip people, you're just fugging over everyday people at that point. Coming from someone who's spent half their working life at jobs where employees should be tipped.

Ehhh If we keep making up the difference what's stopping the companies from paying you better? I understand it tipping just fucks over the deliveguy not the company but if people don't tip and drivers keep quitting the company well have to change something.

Also most places here charge a fee if you order delivery not sure if it goes to the driver or not but some people think that counts as the tip and won't tip because of that

Clock - January 11, 2020, 5:21 am

(Jan 11, 2020 04:53 AM)Vibe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ehhh If we keep making up the difference what's stopping the companies from paying you better? I understand it tipping just fucks over the deliveguy not the company but if people don't tip and drivers keep quitting the company well have to change something.

Also most places here charge a fee if you order delivery not sure if it goes to the driver or not but some people think that counts as the tip and won't tip because of that
Those fees either go to the franchise or company.

I'll stress again, not tipping is NOT the way to fix the tipping issue. The only way that would work would be if you got every single person in this country to not tip. That's never going to happen. As long as some people will tip they'll still be tipped jobs. Unless you somehow get every single person in this country to stop tipping, you'll just be fucking over some guy trying to eat and pay his bills.

Redrum - January 11, 2020, 5:27 am

What the heck, that's messed up you're not on an hourly pay, and the company doesn't pay the gas ?

LoremIpsum - January 11, 2020, 5:36 am

(Jan 8, 2020 06:47 PM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Used half a tank of gas in 6 hours and walked out with $1.50. Don't have enough gas to even make it back for my next shift... fugging great.

May I ask why you aren't getting a different job. Cashier, car washing like unofficial job, even collecting bottles or such will give you more than those $0.25 / hour rate that you have now. You lost gas and got $1.50, so you did a volunteer for 6 hours today.

$1.50 isn't even enough to cover up the gas prices, so you should do something about this if possible my man.

People or the company are taking advantage of you, which isn't a good thing to start your year with.

Clock - January 11, 2020, 9:21 am

(Jan 11, 2020 06:27 AM)Redrum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What the heck, that's messed up you're not on an hourly pay, and the company doesn't pay the gas ?

I get somewhere around .30 cents a mile, but expenses are likely over .50 cents a mile. I do get $5.35 or something like that hourly.

(Jan 11, 2020 08:56 AM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How was the next day ? Hopefully a lot better ?
Yup! Walked out with 50 bucks! Saving so I can do an oilchange cause I'm just about due for one.

Clock - January 11, 2020, 9:24 am

(Jan 11, 2020 06:36 AM)LoremIpsum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) May I ask why you aren't getting a different job. Cashier, car washing like unofficial job, even collecting bottles or such will give you more than those $0.25 / hour rate that you have now. You lost gas and got $1.50, so you did a volunteer for 6 hours today.

$1.50 isn't even enough to cover up the gas prices, so you should do something about this if possible my man.

People or the company are taking advantage of you, which isn't a good thing to start your year with. Well it was one of my first shifts and one of my managers was being a hard-ass so despite me having worked there before he felt the need to explain to me how to use google maps and read receipts aswell as "break me in" or some bullshit like that. Next shift was more worthwhile. Went for this job because I get cash every night, opposed to waiting 2-3 weeks for the first paycheck.

(Jan 11, 2020 10:23 AM)-Scrub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 50 is still
Meh how long are the shifts ? My buddy delivered for Pizza Hut made over 100 a night easy .
Sadly this store over-staffs HARD on drivers apparently. Some of the drivers said they keep way too many drivers on hand when they're busy and it just hasn't been as busy recently, but they haven't cut down on staff at all. I averaged a little bit under 10 bucks an hour from tips.

LoremIpsum - January 11, 2020, 9:38 am

(Jan 11, 2020 10:24 AM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well it was one of my first shifts and one of my managers was being a hard-ass so despite me having worked there before he felt the need to explain to me how to use google maps and read receipts aswell as "break me in" or some bullsnap like that. Next shift was more worthwhile. Went for this job because I get cash every night, opposed to waiting 2-3 weeks for the first paycheck.

Hopefully you will be paid as much as you deserve, I can't stand low-balling companies or bosses. Respect for your grind though.

Clock - January 11, 2020, 9:44 am

(Jan 11, 2020 10:38 AM)LoremIpsum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hopefully you will be paid as much as you deserve, I can't stand low-balling companies or bosses.

Respect for your grind though.

There's just not many opportunities in my area for decent jobs. We're pretty much a town of straight up service/tourism industry. Just got bills to pay, gotta keep my head up! Hopefully things will change soon. Starting an online headshop with a friend in the next few weeks. He'll be doing all financial backing aswell as dealing with wholesale suppliers while I throw the actual online shop together and do marketing. We'll be using my apartment for US distribution and his apartment for EU distribution.

If you need some rollers, papers, pieces, etc shoot me a PM I gotcha with some deals. Thanks for the apples, they were crunchy and juicy.

hayesh - January 11, 2020, 9:56 am

So you only get with tips and not a salary

Clock - January 11, 2020, 9:58 am

(Jan 11, 2020 10:56 AM)hayesh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So you only get with tips and not a salary I get $5 an hour ontop of tips, plus roughly 0.33 cents a mile.

LoremIpsum - January 11, 2020, 1:17 pm

(Jan 11, 2020 10:44 AM)BlackKraken Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There's just not many opportunities in my area for decent jobs. We're pretty much a town of straight up service/tourism industry. Just got bills to pay, gotta keep my head up! Hopefully things will change soon. Starting an online headshop with a friend in the next few weeks. He'll be doing all financial backing aswell as dealing with wholesale suppliers while I throw the actual online shop together and do marketing. We'll be using my apartment for US distribution and his apartment for EU distribution.

If you need some rollers, papers, pieces, etc shoot me a PM I gotcha with some deals. Thanks for the apples, they were crunchy and juicy.

Send me whatever you mean with rollers and papers or pieces. I could try to help you out, yet I can't promise anything.

I feel sorry for you that the opportunities that you have are limited to only a few, but I believe that you can make the best out of every situation.

808sXdusse - January 11, 2020, 1:27 pm

Grind is a grind??? Blessings all 2020 op

Boy Red - January 12, 2020, 9:45 pm

not sure if someone already mentioned this (sorry i dont feel like reading 7 pages rn) but make sure youre tracking your miles on an app like Stride so that you can deduct from your taxes, i used to do that when I drove for Postmates

Muggsy - January 13, 2020, 12:03 am

Sadly the world of the pizza delivery guy is slowly coming to a end with the surplus of food delivery services that allow for in-depth online purchases through the service and allow tips online instead of in person with cash, etc. Honestly would look for a better job but, that is just me.

Natas - January 13, 2020, 12:14 am

Bro say

This is my first delivery really excited.

You will get more tips just got to remember the people cause you cant do that to them over and over if they remember you.

I delivered maybe like a year ago for the first time being a delivery driver my first day my first delivery I got a $20 tip because she said I was super fast and I said yeah its my first day you were my first customer and she made sure to get back in her purse and said "And this is for you" the next to days I struggled getting like $10 a day. I know it sounds kinda bad its lieing but not stealing. I kinda felt bad about it and didn't stay at that job very long. I felt it was retarded that I would be out busting my ass in heavy traffic and would come back and while waiting on a order I would have to make the pizza's while every one else gets like $8 a hour I would get like $2.00 so I feel your pain bro hope you can find a new line of work soon man.

Clock - January 13, 2020, 12:50 pm

(Jan 13, 2020 01:14 AM)Natas Wrote: CITE Bro say

This is my first delivery really excited.

You will get more tips just got to remember the people cause you cant do that to them over and over if they remember you.

I delivered maybe like a year ago for the first time being a delivery driver my first day my first delivery I got a $20 tip because she said I was super fast and I said yeah its my first day you were my first customer and she made sure to get back in her purse and said "And this is for you" the next to days I struggled getting like $10 a day. I know it sounds kinda bad its lieing but not stealing. I kinda felt bad about it and didn't stay at that job very long. I felt it was retarded that I would be out busting my ass in heavy traffic and would come back and while waiting on a order I would have to make the pizza's while every one else gets like $8 a hour I would get like $2.00 so I feel your pain bro hope you can find a new line of work soon man.

I mean this is my 2nd time working for these people, I've got about 2 years or so under my belt in this job before I left and have now returned. Making easily 1/3 of what I use to, and I'm driving a lot faster and working a lot harder than the previous time I worked here. Hoping its just the season and things will pick up but we'll see.