Thread: Account was hacked 5 years ago

Hi HF,

Here's the thread from 2015 when my account got compromised:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5050685&highlight=banker>

I had built alot of trust and credibility over time on my profile and then my account was compromised, the hacker scammed several people from my account,

I acknowledge that it's completely my fault for not having 2fa on my account, but I would do anything to get my account back.

I'm happy to cover all the damages and pay back everyone that got scammed if necessary.

What's the process that I must go through in order to appeal against the ban?

"The member you specified is either invalid or doesn't exist." Not gonna happen, sorry.

What do you mean? Is the account just disappeared?

There has also been a reputation reset since then also, best thing to do is go ahead and build up your new account bud

We don't recover accounts anymore. Also, it looks like your account has been pruned (with many other older closed accounts) so it's gone forever.

Keep this account secure if you care about it.
