this is all from scratch, no plugins, I've made this by experimenting on my own duration: 45 minutes

inside perspective:

post process motion blur would make it perfect

color variations:

I dig it. Imma go save this for later usage

Looks nice, although the awkward color change sort of distorts the design making it look rather weird. It's difficult to explain. If it weren't for that, it would be a great custom animation.

I personally didn't liked the flat surface when it just hit the ground. Everything except that else looks dope.

That would eliminate the whole purpose behind the bounce effect would make it look like a marble hitting the surface

I agree that the ending looks a bit weird, perhaps an extra bounce would make it look more natural? Other than that, it looks amazing.
