Thread: EBAY DEFECT AND FEEDBACK REMOVAL SERVICE - BECOME TOP RATED ON EBAY TODAY!

SIM-1966021 - January 13, 2020, 8:27 pm

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Pa3Hlily8BA>]

We can remove Defects, Negative/Neutral Feedback, and More!

Did you know that just 0.3% of your transactions resulting in a defect could cause your eBay account to get throttled and possibly even suspended?

These defects can be caused by things such as canceling an order due to the item being out of stock or for a resolution center case or return request being closed against you. Sometimes your buyers will call eBay directly to expedite their case or return and have the case instantly opened and closed before you have a chance to give your response. This results in an unavoidable defect for your account.

We know exactly how to get these defects removed from your account by contacting eBay's customer support via phone. In the vast majority of cases, it is "against eBay's policies" to remove any defect or negative feedback. However, customer support representatives actually are able to make exceptions although it is not always easy to get them to do so.

We track multiple factors such as what to say, how to word it, which days are the best to call on, which times are the best to call at, how to get the right reps, which specific agents are the most "helpful", etc.

This allows us to remove virtually any defect or negative feedback that is holding your account back. We typically find that when an account goes from above standard to below standard (0.3% or more transactions with defects) eBay pushes all of your listings to the back of the search results and your sales typically drop by 40-90%.

If you are currently operating any below standard accounts you getting at best about half as many sales as you would be with an above standard account (not to mention being top-rated gives an additional boost plus saves you 20% on your monthly eBay fees).

Whether you need a one-time account clean-up or you would like us to monitor your account with weekly checkups we are ready to help you maintain a perfect record on eBay.

eBay updates your seller status on the 20th of every month, so it is best to get everything cleaned up a week ahead of time as defect removals sometimes take a few days to process in eBay's system.

Bitrock06#9027 - January 17, 2020, 5:01 am

Interested. Was told I can't sell on eBay..or suspended..

SIM-1966021 - January 17, 2020, 6:08 am

We have a 100% success rate removing negative feedback or any type of defect. However, we are not always able to reinstate your account once it has gotten to the point of becoming suspended. Depending on your situation it may be possible though.

Nice service ! ?

pity that ebay is little used, applied to behemoths like amazon or other e-stores could prove very useful

No plans currently but maybe someday. eBay is much bigger than most people realize. It is almost the exact size of every Shopify store there is put together and it is 70% bigger than Walmart.com

So I have some questions?

I have an ebay account almost 11 years

I am seller for 1 year.

I have what looks like a great rating.

But base on 3 transactions which were messed up by the seller I got the bad rating.

So here is my issue. Some sellers don't accept my bid on there item, I don't know what you call it but something was recorded on my account.

so here is my questions:

Will you be able to remove that?

Will this affect the integrity of my account in the eyes of ebay and PayPal by extension?

Sure, this is an issue as a buyer due to non-payment for a transaction. I would be happy to fix this for you and it will only make your account look better to eBay.

Yes, we can fix your negative feedback, cases closed without resolution, and defect rates.

(Jan 22, 2020 11:06 PM)Juicy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you re-establish selling priveleges

We can re-establish selling privileges in some cases, this will just depend on your situation. Alternatively, we are able to help you set up a new eBay account which cannot be linked back to your original one.

Sorry, everyone. I completely forgot my login information for 2 years and just got back into my account.

I am not able to see whether I DMed everyone here so I will reply to the last few who sent messages.

Yes, we are still in business and removing feedback/defects/late shipments every day.

We don't work with suspended accounts, but if your account was suspended many years ago I may be able to give you some advice.

If anyone is still interested and would like more info feel free to DM. Thanks.

Happy to finally be back!
