

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Group Ownership Approval

SIM-2501407 - January 15, 2020, 9:26 am

With the iterations of HF that I have witnessed over the past two years, I want to verify how user group ownership works. If I recall correctly, once you are approved by Omniscient, you were approved forever (unless revoked). Is this still the case or would I have to reapply to be an eligible owner? I was originally approved a little under 4 years ago.

To be clear, I am not looking to purchase a group now or in the upcoming weeks. Groups are not that expensive now, so I would seriously consider purchasing one in few months with the intent of focusing on modern technology (research, discussions, projects, etc.).

Omniscient - January 15, 2020, 9:43 am

Works the same. I transfer group ownership. You have to be approved by me to own a group. You can Convo or PM me for that review. Group ownership transfer has a $250 fee. Can be paid by either party.

Cyber Rick - January 15, 2020, 9:44 am

Omniscient Any chance you can post a thread regarding the pricing and procedures for custom groups? I checked the Help Docs and tried going through past threads but was unable to really find anything useful (maybe I am blind and just couldn't find it?). I am interested in buying a group but find it hard to find information besides word of mouth. I would love a thread stating the fees e.g transfer fee, rebrand fee etc along with any rules/procedures such as getting group ownership approval.

SIM-2501407 - January 15, 2020, 9:44 am

I am closing this thread as Omniscient answered my questions.
Thanks Omni.