China's deadly coronavirus may have the same death rate as Spanish flu, an expert has warned.

China has currently put a travel ban in place for all Wuhan Residents and the airports are closed. Hopefully this gets contained but now we have to worry about if others been infected elsewhere which is very likely considering a case has been confirmed in the USA.

Probably a lot, I was thinking about how all the ice is melting like what kind of diseases or viruses may be hiding under it. And as humans continue to explore more unexplored places I think that can increase the risk too.

Buy air purifiers, be sure to wash hands thoroughly, disinfect surfaces and door handles, etc. Limit exposure to people as much as possible.

Too be fair these kind of "outbreaks" are practically always way less of a disaster than the panicked public makes them out to be... It's expensive to have a scared population and it's expensive to close down whole cities.

They don't and won't have a cure for years and a flu can spread world wide in less than 36 hours so I think precautions are necessary.

Sure, sure... Same with SARS, swine flu, monkey flu, bird flu and all other end-of-time happenings.

Either way, all I meant is it's a hard decision to shut down a city, especially when these outbreaks tend to be vastly over-hyped.

Different story, like S.A.R.S this "CORONAVIRUS" is common on other animal (S.A.R.S was bats virus), the problem is Chinese people keep eating various wild animals, and these viruses made the "species jump" by selfmodifying themselves to infect other animal species, in this case the "jump" was on human (like s.a.r.s)

this virus seems coming from snake

Interesting that the Coronavirus is patented
<https://patents.justia.com/patent/10130701>

The present invention provides a live, attenuated coronavirus comprising a variant replicase gene encoding polyproteins comprising a mutation in one or more of non-structural protein(s) (nsp)-10, nsp-14, nsp-15 or nsp-16. The coronavirus may be used as a vaccine for treating and/or preventing a disease, such as infectious bronchitis

This now has me wondering because there is reports that this outbreak is either from a snake or bat but what if this vaccine was used in Wuhan and this is actually how it started intentionally.

Also, the media has gone from the protests to this china may have realised this to take peoples attention away from the protests that are going on "Avoid large crowds of people" Maybe this is there way of secretly shutting down the protests wasnt the first time they have done something similar when they sent the army in to kill innocent civilians in 1989?

The Coronavirus is spreading this is not good.

U.S. health officials said Friday they diagnosed a second patient with the China coronavirus — a Chicago woman who returned from Wuhan with the infection, and they are monitoring dozens of other potential cases here.

There are 63 cases being monitored in the U.S. that stretch across 22 states, including the first patient in Washington state and the new case in Illinois, said Dr. Nancy Messonnier, director of the National Center for Immunization and Respiratory Diseases.

Coronaviruses in general aren't that dangerous (it's the second most common cause of the common cold) but this strain is a bit more worrisome. SARS-CoV had a mortality rate of 7% (50% for people aged 65+.

Everyone needs to quit fear mongering. A 1-2% death rate is pretty much nothing considering the people most susceptible to most outbreaks of pretty much anything are exponentially more likely to have complications.

Check the "deceases" in 1820, 1920 and this year it's 2020..

History repeating itself as they need to come up with 'new' ways for us to die.

Last year or a few years ago it was the "very contagious and death decease" Ebola.. one week later and it was vanished of Earth?

I don't believe in sudden deceases, we are just being poisoned here. And I think this will either wipe 1/8 of the population out or it will disappear like Ebola.

The CDC is a joke. They used to claim that cigarettes weren't harmful. Look at them now..

The same 'centre' that tested the safety of 'radiation' exposure and claims it is safe. They tested an adult male with a cellphone usage of 7 minutes a day, for a month. And concluded it's safe. ?

I'd spend your last minutes / hours / days with those you love, instead of opening that door with the bio-hazard people ?

For example they beat the dogs, then proceed to boil them alive. I have seen many leaked videos like this done on other animals too.

Also, though processed foods are incredibly unhealthy, they typically come from chickens, cows and lamb which are considered safe as they are domesticated. Whereas exotic animals in the wild like bats and monkeys there is a higher risk in eating it despite how well its cooked (Ebola is linked with bushmeat)

I don't think it's that bad unless it becomes more resistant. Right now it's more like just a flu.
From what I've heard it's really not so dangerous, unless you are old/young, or your immune system is struggling other ways already.
What we forget sometimes is that yearly hundreds of thousands of people die from just a regular influenza.

Well it is bad, it is said to have the death rate of the Spanish Flu which had upwards of 100 million deaths, that was before we had mass commercial travel.

The USA now has 4 confirmed cases out of many more possible cases. China is now saying people have this virus without even knowing at first and even during that phase it is spreadable. There is reports this virus has already begun to mutate.

Confirmed cases are popping up in multiple different countries, dozens of deaths already in China.

This is not something people should take lightly, people need to prepare, there is a very good chance this will become much worse.

I recommend people prepare for the basics, food, water, first-aid, sanitation, etc.

Avoid contact with people as much as possible, when shopping bring disinfecting wipes to clean the handles of carts, also have hand sanitizer.

We do not know how widespread the Coronavirus is right now there could be hundreds infected with it right now in the USA just from plane travel and they don't even know it yet.

I don't know scientifically if it's the same as the spanish flu in terms of it's danger, but it's also worth mentioning that the spanish flu took place in about 1918 and the science at that time was by far not at the same level as now. You're referring to the incubation phase, which is 2 weeks for the corona virus. That is indeed unfortunate since 1 person could infect all its' environment without noticing for atleast 2 weeks. So in cities it's likely that it will spread like a wildfire. But I also believe that there will be a treatment relatively soon.

We may be "overdue for a pandemic" according to some researchers, however, this isn't it. This is a mild virus that is being over publicized and fear mongered into something it's not. In no time at all this won't even be a blip on people's map.

so far it's like a 5.2% deathrate, of what have been reported last time i checked (yesterday) 52 deaths and 1000 infected. But right now we shouldn't stress about it, we don't really know what type of people are dying from it, if they're elderly and in bad shape, or if they're in the peak of their lives. Sure it matters, if it's old people & unhealthy people that are dying from it then it's clearly not as dangerous as everyone is making it out to be.

Not saying it doesn't matter because they're old and unhealthy, just stating that we actually don't know if it's that dangerous as people are making it out to be yet.

How the coronavirus outbreak in China could hit manufacturing

<https://www.cnbc.com/2020/01/30/how-the-coronavirus-outbreak-in-china-could-hit-manufacturing.html>

Quote:Potential impact on US businesses

The outbreak has sent tremors across markets in Asia and beyond in recent days, as investor concerns about the potential economic impact grow.

“We’re concerned that there could start to be ... some overall impact on the Chinese economy which could lend itself, from a sentiment perspective, to greater concerns ... for the global economy,” Shannon Saccocia, chief investment officer at Boston Private, told CNBC on Thursday.

That could spillover into the performance of U.S. businesses at a time when the “strain of lower production” is being felt stateside, Saccocia said.

“If we start to see that upended by the fact that factories aren’t opening and ... we’re not able to get the components that we need from the Chinese economy, you know, that could ... certainly slow any sort of manufacturing reacceleration that we were hoping for in the first two quarters of 2020,” she said.

Looks like the W.H.O. (world health organization) will meet today to decide if the epidemic is a global emergency.

Well 7,000 are now held on a cruise ship due to the virus.

Additionally the first person to person transmission has been confirmed in the USA. Many more could have it due to the incubation period of which this virus is still able to spread.

34 Airlines have cancelled flights to China due to the virus.

<https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/about/prevention.html>

To add on to the CDC prevention steps I will add some more.

1. When you go shopping bring disinfecting wipes and disinfect shopping cart handles, additionally use hand sanitizer after shopping.
2. If you have been around sick people take your close off outside or in the garage and get them in the washer and dryer do not hug or touch your family.
3. Wash your hands immediately after removing your shoes.
4. Use disinfecting wipes on your phone, be sure not to cause liquid damage.
5. Spray and clean all surface with disinfecting wipes or lysol including door knobs, sinks, fridge handles, etc.

This virus seems no worse than the flu as far as I can tell. The need to act like it's ebola or a world ending plague is beyond me. I am convinced there is something else going on in the back ground here..

Well the death rate is increasing, the infection rate is increasing. I think right now the numbers we are getting are not complete and it is worse then reported. Just watch leaked videos out of China for yourself.

.eXe - February 20, 2020, 12:06 am

I'm still convinced of two things. 1) China is still withholding information and 2) The virus is being used as a scare tactic by the media. The same thing happened with Ebola.

tacticalcatboy - February 20, 2020, 12:21 am this is just a virus to kill all the old people in china cause the older they are, they can't work for the state.

Well China is withholding information there is videos and leaks from within China you can see for yourself. And the US media is also withholding the true infection/death rates.

Some good news though.

"A group of researchers has figured out the molecular structure of a key protein that the coronavirus uses to invade human cells, potentially opening the door to the development of a vaccine, according to new findings."

It's weird how the world works. The flu, according to the CDC, kills on average 12,000 people in any given year, but when something new comes out, everyone freaks out about it!

Linux X - February 21, 2020, 12:21 am

As I know from the news here, there are 7000+ death cases.

How many of those are regular healthy people, though? I feel like they'd mostly be the old, young or immune compromised.

serotine1 - February 21, 2020, 3:21 am

I have been following this from beginning and everything points to a much higher death ratio then the chinese goverment is telling the outside world.

For example the Wuhan cremation center is open for business 24/7 and the workers are complaining about workstress.

Well the reason this is scary is unlike the flu which infects 60 million a year this isn't over 100 thousand yet and has 2k deaths.

The incubation period on this virus is very scary too at 21 days unlike most which would be 24-72hrs

By the time 1 million is infected, there's gonna be more than 12k deaths

Mortox - February 21, 2020, 12:31 pm

Dude I heard some crazy stuff about this virus like some bih in China ate a fucking bat soup and spread came to US and spread it. I've been seeing alot of Chinese people walking in my city with masks on while everyone else walks around normally.

which is very likely considering a case has been confirmed in the USA.

Nearly 3,000 dead and 80,000 infected

CDC says it will spread in the USA.

Never listen to the government when they claim something is not a risk they are downplaying it to stop panic.

Oh I'm very against believing government at this point.

I was trying to get numbers to keep up since I didn't see an update in the thread. I know Trump is the biggest clown there is in office. He is a symptom though. There has been a long frivolous line of Presidents.

Also: it's funny that Trump also appointed Pence as the main person in charge of the coronavirus. The most racist/bigot person known to mankind. Who believe shock therapy is the way to lobotomize LGBT people.

Well it is simply a fact that we are not getting true information, even Trumps numbers contradict the CDC. So the reality is we do not know the death rate, however people abroad are saying it is worse then the media is saying, people are collapsing in the streets dying.

And it doesn't matter if it is healthy people or not it matters that it is people dying from this. Mothers, Fathers, Grandfathers, Grandmothers, Aunts, Uncles, Sisters, Brothers they are dying.

So no it is not fine, just because people who are already sick or have health issues or are of old age does not mean it is fine. You can literally have a common cold and then contract Coronavirus and it kill you.

Maskin - February 28, 2020, 8:59 pm

It's spreading throughout the globe but I think it can be contained and not reach a global pandemic. The biggest problem is so many people not taking this seriously.

Yeah I saw that when I was away up in PA. I laughed my ass off. He basically says "You could probably die who knows" or something along those lines in which Trevor Noah politically mocks him. I think he needs to take this more serious.
