Thread: I am seeking a graphic designer and more php, html, c# developers

The One And Only - January 24, 2020, 9:10 pm

Hello Hack-forums, I am here today because my first thread design was apparently low quality, I need somebody who knows exactly what they are doing . I have the thread base already completed. I'd just like for you to modify it for the best. Whatever is good for the eyes. I would like to discuss more with somebody who is seeking to be apart of many startups and projects. I can't go into much detail what I have in store for HF, but I have a few developers working on separate projects as well. Lets have fun and make money having fun. This current thread design is for hosting.

A little about myself, my name is Mike I am 28 years of age and I currently own a Windows installation company. I use to be that person who would sit on his computer for days at a time ""RESEARCHING"" black hat methods, having fun with exploits that did not last long, playing games all the time. Until I came across providing services to ones who needed it MOST. I prioritize clients before anything else. 5 of my services used to have a steady income just from the online world. I know what I am doing.

Pay VS partnership. You choose.
