It's absolutely nothing to worry about.

V?rt - January 25, 2020, 8:49 pm

Dang, I'm hoping it dies down before it ends up spreading like a wildfire. It's not a good thing to be passing around so easily

Regarding the post, you should be fine, it shouldn't spread wildly, we got it under control. Especially in Canada.

Instagram - January 25, 2020, 9:56 pm

this shit scares me thinking about it. after watching that Netflix show made me nervous lol

normaldeve - January 25, 2020, 11:13 pm

Im sorry but i think we all will die from it

WalterE - January 26, 2020, 12:30 am

Fuck, I hope it doesn't go north from France.

oRequiem - January 26, 2020, 1:34 am

Just gotta be careful, don't be worried, be focused.

It hit the north of my state as well, but I don't even touch outside so I don't even have to worry much.

Plus, everyone's body is different, might not be life threatening for some if treated. Just look up the symptoms and if you experience any, get some help right away.

Nate - January 26, 2020, 4:14 am

Better mask up brother, stock up on some food too.

Remember Ebola, and how big of a thing they made out of it? At the time it seemed like everyone was going to start shitting their intestines out on the street, and two weeks later you barely heard a thing about it. It's being blown way out of proportion.

Start repenting :0

A + - January 26, 2020, 9:39 am

Stay your ass inside, cook your own food, and stay safe. Not for sure 100% how it spreads, but I wouldn't touch my eyes, nose, or mouth. And wash those hands buddy. Best of luck.

Dr. Einyel - January 26, 2020, 9:41 am

We are not 'overdue' my man haha.

< 1720 in France the Plague

< 1820 (1816 - 1826) in Asia / Europe First cholera pandemic

< 1820 in USA the Yellow Fever

< 1920 world wide so called the Spanish Flue killing over 100,000,000 people

< 2020 Wuhan Corona virus.. starting to influence Europe and other parts of the world too

So I would say we're right on schedule. Every 100 year a big wipe-out would be beneficial for those in control.

That been said, Corona means "Crown" So the Wuhan Crown virus started in China. Let's see how this will roll out. ?

Well, I mean, if you look back at those years, all those viruses killed a good amount of people during the 20's, so I'm guessing that we're all going to die.

Mom, please.

We live in a society where our medicinal advances are far better than the time before, maybe we cure it sooner than tons of people dying?

Or ya'll sadists don't want that.

Well I've heard that some of the Chinese nurses were crying about the virus and saying that they were short staffed and that there's a good amount of people (talking millions of people) that are going to die because they aren't going to get treated, but then again I don't know anything about that, I don't live in China.

Shit that is just sad to hear. I hope it's not true.

Got my food supply ready for the corona virus bnk500 - January 26, 2020, 10:11 am

1 in 50 dies from it. But Corona viruses isnt something new, there was one in 2012, and one back in 2002. Both had about 10000 infected, and a few hundred dead. I dont think it will develop nor spread into a huge problem, like if you have seen in apocolypse movies. The countries are aware, and they just need to lock down on those infected, and help them become better to end the disease.

Asmodais - January 26, 2020, 10:56 am

Are you aged 0-15, a cancer patient, immuno-compromised, elderly or a combination of any of the mentioned? If not, you'll most likely not have any severe reactions to an infection.

Exe - February 5, 2020, 3:39 am
