Thread: AutoBuy.IO | The New Marketplace Platform | E-Commerce Reimagined

What Is AutoBuy.IO?

AutoBuy.IO is an e-commerce platform for merchants who sell digital items.

Why should you use AutoBuy.IO? What sets it apart from other platforms?

AutoBuy.IO has many different features that set it apart from its competitors. From the easy to work with API, to payment options, and even the support, there's a lot to breakdown.

AutoBuy.IO is partnered with PayPal to ensure that our merchants get the most seamless selling experience possible. This partnership enables exclusive features for our merchants, like refunding payments right from your dashboard, and many more. On top of that, our team has worked to ensure that other payment options, such as cryptocurrency, are just as good.

The AutoBuy.IO website is optimized. When it comes to e-commerce, a few seconds could stop someone from making a purchase, so we optimized our website to be the best it can be. So, whether it is a user purchasing an item, or you responding to support tickets, the website can keep up. Need proof? Look at our homepage stats in comparison to our competitors. Our Licensing System. There are so many kinds of digital items that you can sell. But as developers ourselves, we wanted to make the process of selling software a little easier. With the click of a mouse, you can create and issue product keys or licenses for your software.

The AutoBuy.IO community. We started AutoBuy.IO as people who have sold digital items and either not liked something out there already or thought of a better way to do things. We know where you're coming from. While we've been in a private beta we have taken so many suggestions from the community and we have grown through the connection we have with our merchants. Our support is quick, and we genuinely care about the people using our platform. We have Ideators who have found bugs and suggested things for us to add. And we even have Founders and Sponsors who believe in the project so much that they donated to it to help keep it going. Our community is important to us, and that will never change.

How can I sign up for AutoBuy.IO?

We have just entered an open beta phase and accepting signups directly on the site. We are actively adding new features and listening to community suggestions. Please note inner design and UI is still under construction and is subject to change before our official launch.
