Thread: Have wrote a review in testimonial section? how long should i need to wait?

Bulma - January 28, 2020, 12:28 pm

Hello guys,

I have written a nice and long review in HF testimonial section, but till now i havent been noticed if the post was approved or not.

Maybe you guys know how long does it take for HF to verify the testimonial and if i should get some notification if it was denied?

Thanks in advance!

I'm sure it won't take more then a few days, soon as Omni is online and done with all the catching up he needs to do with upgrades etc.. he will get round to doing it.

Pretty sure Testimonial reviews are done at Omni's discretion, I don't remember ever seeing an official time or reason when he or someone else does.

Don't worry, it won't go unnoticed. I'm sure whenever the time comes to review the current pending threads he will get to yours.

I think it's the same as Blog articles, there's no official time of when they're reviewed.

i have written about few weeks ago and havent received any info if its approved or not. So I guess I just need to be patient and wait.

Basically yeah that's all you can do for now man.

I know Natas has been waiting a while for his to get approved as well.

Yeah brother I been waiting a month or more for my blogs now lol for the first couple weeks I was checking every day I got 4/5 blogs approved and 2 pending so so close for the award

I would come home from work and check right away eventually I realized I got to quit checking and hopefully in time one of the two will get approved lol.

Theres no certain time limit on when you should wait, just go whenever you feel like you gained enough experience on HF
