

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Discord Impostor impersonating Cryp

MasterJesus - January 30, 2020, 3:37 pm

Posting a community alert to prevent anyone from getting scammed by this impostor impersonating Cryp.

Here is the devil under the name of cryp.hf#4853 on discord who is trying to commit a sin.

Shortly after I received a message from Cryp on HF "screenshot below". Which confirmed that I was dealing with the Devil on Discord.

From all my heart from heaven, please don't deal with anyone without opening a contract and having it accepted.

May my father protect all the members of HF from the devils!

Jesus's out.

Lawsuit - January 30, 2020, 3:58 pm

Imao "ur mom is big"

I'm willing to bet this is some immature 15 year old kid sitting at home trying to scam people out of $60.

cryp - January 30, 2020, 4:01 pm

Asked this user to post the comm alert as he had the discord chat and to simplify things from both ends. Thank you @MasterJesus@.

My one and ONLY discord is cryp#5853 and found

On my profile

In my signature

On my CE thread

MasterJesus - January 30, 2020, 5:48 pm

(Jan 30, 2020 04:58 PM)Lawsuit Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) lmao "ur mom is big"

I'm willing to bet this is some immature 15 year old kid sitting at home trying to scam people out of $60.

He's clearly 15 years old.

It's sad how these kids are being raised by their parents, how can you scam/fraud people and sleep well at night.

I always ask my self how can a scammer continue live their life normally, not realising that some of the victims that he scammed could be already in a bad financial situation which could lead to depression or even worse suicide.

Had a close friend who took his life away, after getting scammed for a large sum which got him deeper in his debts.

vyactor - January 30, 2020, 6:08 pm

I see how kids are now trying to scam lmao. You guys should better not deal at disocrd. I always recommend you people to deal on-site.