Normally when we have a big party like that, everybody that comes normally each bring a dish or something so that it's not all on the one person. Just finger foods should do fine enough.

Not as much as I did before, gonna keep it lowkey.

Rsynced - January 31, 2020, 10:36 am

$50 a piece is reasonable. ?

I'm not spending a thing, I just never.. understood the big deal and why people get so bent out of shape. Seriously, it's like an all-out war between nations to some people, whom would maybe benefit from some anger management courses. I mean, if it's your thing, more power to you. It just is an exhausting thing to endure and could lead people to have anxiety attacks.

I mean its fun, and a reason to get together with friends and family.

Touché good sir/madam. I suppose that's a way to do it, hadn't considered that fun fact. Last game on television I attended, it was relatively fun interacting with people. I didn't know much from the basics, but it was nice.
