Quote:The UK has officially left the European Union after 47 years of membership - and more than three years after it voted to do so in a referendum.

So what do you think will happen?

FalconExploit - January 31, 2020, 5:53 pm

do you think this is good

I think EU will fall apart without UK because it was the only country that had a culture every EU citizen is familiar with. That means that Euroscepticism and racism will be on the rise and more parties in the Union will start suggesting that their countries should also leave.

I bet most will not notice any changes. Just more elitist quarrels.

Nothing much will change. EU have goods that we want, and we have money that they want. Trade and business will go on like always. I am not too bothered about the whole breakfast deal, nationalism is for low iq morons. But what I can say is leaving EU was a good decision from an economic standpoint.
