

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: what's a "brag" in billionaire life ?

CyberError - February 1, 2020, 9:03 am

as the title says what is the meaning of bragging among billionaire peoples, i mean they don't brag about car and mansions like we poor do , yeh millionaire do show off yacht and private jet , but mostly serious billionaire never showoff , am pretty sure bragging have different meaning in their life, because after becoming a billionaire you don't really care about the money and also people who become billionaire are not someone who only aims for money, the question sound complex but am seriously curious

my answer to this question is :- they don't really show off anything expect their achievement and their goals , like elon musk and bill gates both are nice human being and have goals to make this world a better place , let me know what you guys think

ETH - February 1, 2020, 9:06 am

Still they're bragging by their activities

And most of billionaires and millionaires knows that they can buy anything except a good name among people

Stork - February 1, 2020, 9:09 am

(Feb 1, 2020 10:06 AM)ETH Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Still they're bragging by their activities

And most of billionaires and millionaires knows that they can buy anything except a good name among people

Yup where I live and my line of work your name means a lot.

CyberError - February 1, 2020, 9:18 am

(Feb 1, 2020 10:09 AM)Stork Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yup where I live and my line of work your name means a lot.

are you a porn star ?

Rsynced - February 1, 2020, 9:19 am

Most of them seem to be psychotic in my personal opinion. Nothing like living in a bubble outside of the commoners society.

Stork - February 1, 2020, 9:20 am

(Feb 1, 2020 10:18 AM)CyberError Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) are you a porn star ?

I wish I was still in that business. The name "Big Dick Bill" will never die.

V?rt - February 1, 2020, 9:30 am

I feel like most billionaires start off with a different mindset that millionaires do. They want to improve stuff, while millionaires just want to be millionaires, or perhaps most just get content with their millions and don't want to stretch it even further. It could also be that billionaires just don't know what to do with that amount of money and just set the goal of trying to make the world a better place.

Geralt - February 1, 2020, 9:46 am

They brag about anything that they can't get with money.. For example, hitting a good golf shot, or being good at other activities, winning tennis games vs friends, being good at cooking even though they can pay the best chefs in the world. Basically anything we mortals would brag about except stuff you buy with $.

Nate - February 1, 2020, 11:36 am

Probably buying an Island is one of their bucketlist for sure

Lrrr - February 1, 2020, 11:38 am

Billionaire brag: I grab chicks by the pussy

(Feb 1, 2020 12:36 PM)N?te Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Probably buying an Island is one of their bucketlist for sure

Buying an island to molest kids with billionaire buddies

Niska - February 1, 2020, 12:01 pm

I'm sure a lot of users will inform you on the matter after your e-book has made them billionaires.

Geass - February 1, 2020, 12:21 pm

Many rich people brag about their fortunes, just few of them don't care for people opinion and just enjoy their lifes

Citoa - February 1, 2020, 12:21 pm

Billionaires have made their money through hard work. There is no billionaire that doesn't know the real value of money. Even if someone inherits their wealth from their parents they will most probably lose it unless they have been taught well. A rich parent always teaches their children the real value of money.

That is why they don't brag with material stuff.

CyberError - February 1, 2020, 9:17 pm

(Feb 1, 2020 01:21 PM)Citoa Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Billionaires have made their money through hard work. There is no billionaire that doesn't know the real value of money. Even if someone inherits their wealth from their parents they will most probably lose it unless they have been taught well. A rich parent always teaches their children the real value of money.

That is why they don't brag with material stuff.

expect teenager millionaires, i think every rich guy know the value of money that's how they become rich , most people who inherits huge wealth really lose it in few years i have seen people going broke in no time as compared to poor people who become rich with their hard work

Psychedelic. - February 3, 2020, 6:17 am

Yachts, cars, and most definitely fine women.

CyberError - February 3, 2020, 6:19 am

(Feb 3, 2020 07:17 AM)Psychedelic. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yachts, cars, and most definitely fine women.

never really seen any billionaire showing their yachts even tho they have like 4-5 yachts , only millionaire with single yachts shows them off , def not the cars mostly billionaires don't yeh some with taste do but naah they don't care , again women/girls is really a teenager millionaire thing

no offense tho

funtela - February 4, 2020, 10:38 am

Buying an island would be a pretty big brag

Exe - February 5, 2020, 3:14 am

I never see a billionaire that flexes their jewelry or anything because they can buy literally anything

CyberError - February 5, 2020, 6:03 am

(Feb 5, 2020 04:14 AM)guccy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I never see a billionaire that flexes their jewelry or anything because they can buy literally anything
yeh that's the point of the thread

Grey - February 5, 2020, 6:43 am

Millionaires brag with cars they own, billionaires brag with politicians they own.

Michael Bloomberg has spent nearly a quarter billion dollars on his campaign so far buying endorsements/ads and he polls at like 15%.

He spent $100,000,000 just to be Mayor of NYC in 2009. He's a clown.

noureddinemerradou - February 5, 2020, 7:48 am

I think they brag about achievements Like being healthy and losing weight , things which you could forget about if you're a busy man , also finding time to stay with kids visit family , is something they could be bragging about , Donating a lot of money is on the top list as well , beating cancer or recovering from a huge financial crisis , scoring a great hit in their business and the list goes one .

LoremIpsum - February 5, 2020, 8:10 am

I would say portfolio or real estate.

A billionaire isn't bragging with 'I made $100,000 today' but will show or tell you about their portfolio, real estate or investments. About 50,000 shares in Apple, Coca Cola or whatever will be much more of a 'brag' than "I made $100,000 today".

Dan Lock for example, is a guy that many people are following for his business advice and (I quote) "ridiculous prices" of charging $10,000 an hour for advice. He doesn't give support after, he doesn't 'brag' about his revenues, he simply convinces you why he's worth the money. Many others are proud of their real estates, showing of houses and mansions, castles and vacation estates.

Vossen - February 5, 2020, 8:31 am

I have two (or three?) billionaires in my circle.

They don't brag with their stuff. Neither within their own "billionaire circle", nor to other people. As from my own experience, they don't even brag about their successes as well. Sure, when they've successfully sold another business or something, they'll go and buy a round and celebrate it. But they'll never brag to people about "having sold a company for X".

If they brag, it's about their personal life. Their family, their wonderful child, something along these lines. Simple reason - if you've been so much invested in your work life for your whole life, you simply love talking more about your personal life for once.

No idea what kind of billionaires people on here, who say they brag about tax returns or some bullshit, know, but definitely no real billionaires who worked themselves for what they have.

CyberError - February 6, 2020, 7:53 am

(Feb 5, 2020 09:31 AM)Vossen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have two (or three?) billionaires in my circle.

They don't brag with their stuff. Neither within their own "billionaire circle", nor to other people. As from my own experience, they don't even brag about their successes as well. Sure, when they've successfully sold another business or something, they'll go and buy a round and celebrate it. But they'll never brag to people about "having sold a company for X".

If they brag, it's about their personal life. Their family, their wonderful child, something along these lines. Simple reason - if you've been so much invested in your work life for your whole life, you simply love talking more about your personal life for once.

No idea what kind of billionaires people on here, who say they brag about tax returns or some bullsnap, know, but definitely no real billionaires who worked themselves for what they have.

most relatable answer on this thread

SIM-3323508 - February 6, 2020, 7:56 am

(Feb 5, 2020 09:31 AM)Vossen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have two (or three?) billionaires in my circle. They don't brag with their stuff. Neither within their own "billionaire circle", nor to other people. As from my own experience, they don't even brag about their successes as well. Sure, when they've successfully sold another business or something, they'll go and buy a round and celebrate it. But they'll never brag to people about "having sold a company for X".
If they brag, it's about their personal life. Their family, their wonderful child, something along these lines. Simple reason - if you've been so much invested in your work life for your whole life, you simply love talking more about your personal life for once.

No idea what kind of billionaires people on here, who say they brag about tax returns or some bullsnap, know, but definitely no real billionaires who worked themselves for what they have.
This was the route i was thinking probably about family more than anything. No reason to brag about $ when you have too much of it.

Nas - February 6, 2020, 7:25 pm

(Feb 5, 2020 07:43 AM)Grey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Millionaires brag with cars they own, billionaires brag with politicians they own.

Michael Bloomberg has spent nearly a quarter billion dollars on his campaign so far buying endorsements/ads and he polls at like 15%.
He spent $100,000,000 just to be Mayor of NYC in 2009. He's a clown.
He's not a clown... Him being mayor of NYC enabled him to give his corporation tax cuts and leeway for many things since they're based in NYC. That 100mil was nothing to the amount of money he made from it.

Yin Yang - February 6, 2020, 8:01 pm

That's because they don't need to flaunt and are IT guys. You don't really see IT guys wearing gucci belts and loafers like rappers.

It is crazy to think how they can solve world hunger and help out much more than they do, though.

Spiritual - February 6, 2020, 8:44 pm

People in the government they own more than likely

Grizzly - February 6, 2020, 9:31 pm

The fact that you are indeed a billion aire sounds like enough to me.

Stork - February 6, 2020, 11:36 pm

(Feb 6, 2020 10:31 PM)Grizzly Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The fact that you are indeed a billion aire sounds like enough to me.

I think he's talking about billionaire to billionaire terms not billionaire to us lol

Grizzly - February 7, 2020, 4:49 pm

(Feb 7, 2020 12:36 AM)Stork Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think he's talking about billionaire to billionaire terms not billionaire to us lol

Oh I got you, that is a more interesting question ?

Stork - February 7, 2020, 5:19 pm

(Feb 7, 2020 05:49 PM)Grizzly Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh I got you, that is a more interesting question ?

Haha yeah I think Elon Musk probably has the most clout right now lol

Exe - February 7, 2020, 5:21 pm

If I was a billionaire i'd just keep my life hella lowkey. I'd just had a condo downtown and also a porche

Grizzly - February 7, 2020, 5:26 pm

(Feb 7, 2020 06:21 PM)guccy Wrote: CITE If I was a billionaire i'd just keep my life hella lowkey. I'd just had a condo downtown and also a porche

That only works for people saying they using it for saving. tbh.

Right?