Thread: \$1,000 Turo Travel Credit

Uzir - February 6, 2020, 6:11 am

I'm done renting cars now that I own my Cadillac

The remaining travel credit is: $1,000 in my Turo account.

Post here or PM with a offer.

I will be strict due to my name being on the account unless you can transfer over credit/name

Can provide any proof, MM is accepted.

Something fair in price. Like $200-$400

How can we deal brother ?

There is no way to transfer travel credit that's already been redeemed, and you can't rent through someone else's turo profile as it's tied to your drivers license. The hosts 90% of the time want to look at your ID to verify and only the primary driver is allowed to pick up the vehicle. Also, the insurance won't cover you!

That being said, if you have Unredeemed USA travel credit codes, gimme gimme I'll buy them all soon as you can

Thanks for the information, well unless any buyer personally knows a car renter on turo or know any new way to transfer this is can't be sold

Here's kind of an interesting idea, if you have any hosts that you have been a regular of, you can ask them if they are willing to accept a reservation from you for the rest of your travel credit and split the money 50/50 and you don't actually take their car.

Hell yea, just be aware of the risk that if they report you turo could cancel your account. But you said you won't be renting on there any more so shouldn't be too much of a worry

Yeah I only rented luxury cars for like 2 days max for music videos ? and to show off on [BRAND NAME REMOVED] dates

That's actually a good fucking idea. I have regulars that I rent from that would be down for that. I don't see why someone would say no. It's a win win situation. Good luck, OP!

One replied and took it the wrong way and was like " I only do legit business"

Download the app and check out what's available in your area. The best part is it's people renting their own cars so there is benefits like having tint, upgraded exhaust, and other stuff you wouldn't find on a rental car. I've rented all kinds of crazy shit on there including Porsche 9/11 Turbo, C7 Corvette ZL1, Tesla model S P100d and way more

I rented a Jaguar v8 F-type with upgraded exhaust in Cleveland, it was NASTY
