Hello Everyone,

We have launched a new platform for digital assets i.e oropocket[dot][com]

OroPocket enables you to buy, sell and pay with Digital Assets instantly. We are currently offering precious metals and cryptocurrencies on it.

Our initial target market is international remittance since this would save up to 700% in transfer cost, and it completely instant.

We are working on recording all transactions on the blockchain - for this, we are running some experiments(would love your take). We are trying on the Ethereum network, sidechains, and private chain. Obviously, the latter is the worst, as it is not decentralized then.

OroPocket is open by invitation only. Here is the exclusive referral link for the Indiehackers users for signup

Oropocket mobile app is now available in google play store and app store for mobile app users along with web app.

I would greatly appreciate your feedback and suggestions.

Best,
Duper

Never heard of them. Seems to be a legitimate company that just rebranded:

<https://www.crunchbase.com/organization/ethx-co#section-overview>

With that said.. OP is probably not affiliated and is just trying to make money from referrals.

The only crypto exchange I would trust with precious metals is Uphold.com

Oropocket is a legitimate company, earlier we are global cryptocurrency exchange known as ethx.co, but due to regulatory challenges, we have been transformed into Oropocket. Oropocket provides you with a platform to do so, easily — be it via investments, trades, remittance or simply getting paid for your services.
