I remember one of the first PC games I played was Stronghold Crusader, I bought it again recently and it's great fun

I also remember playing Barnyard. Yes you heard that right, the show Barnyard had it's own game lmao, it's pretty shit but that still didn't stop 6yo me from having the time of his little life.

What are some games you guys enjoyed when you were younger?

I played a lot of C.S. 1.6. I loved it. I also had an application with like 100 games in it. I loved playing the Simpsons game from this application. There was also another game that I loved but I can't remember what it was called. It looked like mortal combat. Ooh I also played heroes of might and magic 3. Ahh good times

The first PC game I played as a kid was one of the Freddi Fish games. I loved the simplicity of the game design, yet a lovely story to follow.

For those who can't recall FF.

Back to the barnyard was an amazing game! My six year old brain couldn't comprehend how to get past one of the levels, so I remember running around as Otis not knowing wtf to do. That and the Simpsons driving games for PS2. Amazing fun.

Well growing up in my hood in the 80's, we had more outdoor games unlike kids now that are having more indoor games.

The experience then was so solid, make friends.

I was exposed to football as a young kid.

Sometimes looking back i still wonder why i didnt take football as a career, i was damn good at it growing up.

Although in-as-much i wouldn't like to blame my parent, i think they contributed to it too.

Geralt - February 12, 2020, 6:00 pm

Delta Force 2, the first Spiderman, Def Jam

Bunch of pirated SEGA Genesis games like Alladin, Street Fighter 2, Castlevania, Gunstar, Sonic etc.

The Nintendo Game Boy was fun I played it a lot when I was a kid.

pythionalina - February 13, 2020, 9:54 am

Super Mario Bros probably the very first game, but there are tons of other games on Atari i used to play such as kangaroo, pac-man, Missile Commander, Joust and many many more awesome games i forgot to mention.

Psilocybe - February 13, 2020, 9:58 am

I used to play The Legend of Zelda: Ocarina of Time a shit ton as a kid. I've completed the entire game at least 25 times and I will never forget the amazing nights spent playing my Nintendo 64 without a worry in the world. Zelda is the most common thing I'll associate with nostalgia because every time I think of it, it hits me right in the soft spot of my heart and to be completely honest, there is nothing I wouldn't give up just to go back in time and relive my childhood :) Ahhh... the sounds of Link swinging his sword going "HUHH" and "HAUGHH" echo through my mind. Good days... good days..

pythionalina - February 13, 2020, 12:39 pm

Oh and one of my favorite games I just remember - Jazzy JackRabbit.

SIM-2875347 - February 13, 2020, 12:42 pm
