Thread: 2020 Sales Thread Design

vyactor - February 11, 2020, 8:07 am

Thought I'd try something more modern and clean this time. Just need some final touch ups and I'm done. I'm always open for suggestions and feedback from fellow designers. I will also like to know if the old sales thread is better or the new one.

Final 2020 Sales Thread Design:

It's simple, but looks good. I like it.

I gotta make it look a bit modern with some touch up. Thank you for the comment though.

Edit: Added the final version.

I've into graphics designing for more than an year now. I've started web designing at first that led me to start some graphics designing too. I can't actually estimate how long did it take me to get into this although.

Looks good, simple and clean mate

Grim - February 12, 2020, 12:13 am

Looks really good! i always liked blue for any kind of sales thread design

I like your new design. It seems that you're getting better and better at graphic design, right? Always good to see someone 'fairly new' to the scene.

Simplicity and font fits very well on the design. may i ask what is called in the random shapes design on your thread, like the x, +, o sign, etc.

I then thought the background could be more improved and thus added some ongoing things on the background. The idea is like objects falling from top to bottom and I thought this will give the background a better look, maybe? And below is what I've designed at the first.

The thread design looks amazing.

I kind of noticed this and my OCD kicked in, I don't know if it is intentional or not -

<http://prntscr.com/r1p9a1>

The shadows for the two boxes is a bit off than the other two.

Top quality my man, good job!

Alexxy - February 17, 2020, 6:40 pm

Minimal and great my man.

Bulma - February 18, 2020, 4:24 am personally i think these are great designs! ;)

How much you are charging for similar design for sales threads?
