I've been with my significant other for nearly 2 years now. We met during Senior year of High School and since then, we've done nothing but grow as a couple and as individuals. We currently attend the same University and things are looking great for us! We recently moved into an apartment together and let me tell you, there's nothing better than spending each and every night in the arms of your lover. My significant other literally means the entire world to me and I would go to hell and back for her anytime. We've had conversations of marriage and not a single doubt has crossed my mind, nor has my trust in her & the love we share been impacted - that's how much my significant other means to me :)

When love is good, it is great. When you lose that love, it is poetically heart breaking.

Code
My saddle horse has died and no one was in time
To save him or to reach me with the News that I'm without a mount to ride
My saddle horse has died
My saddle horse has died and no one can provide
The slightest bit of reason to encourage me to go on with this life
My saddle horse has died
My saddle horse has died and with him goes my pride
For without a charging steed beneath
Me I can hardly call myself a knight
My saddle horse has died
My saddle horse has died
My saddle horse has died and I am sick inside
With thoughts of armies infidel attacking when I cannot join the fight

My saddle horse has died and I am sick inside
With thoughts of heathen victories
Unfolding when I have been left behind
My saddle horse has died

In 2020 my Valentines is Hack Forums. Here's a little love letter to the best forum alive:

When I wake up I pull out my phone and get on Hack Forums first thing in the morning. I brush my teeth while scrolling and shitposting with the other hand. I make my way to my gaming PC (which HF helped me build) and transition from mobile to desktop. I pour myself a nice flat white into my officially licensed Hack Forums mug and drink it while I crack my knuckles and proceed to make conversation with my many HF acquaintances. When I finally have to leave my desk station to consume nutrients, I browse HF on a mobile smartphone I bought from a local friend on HF and proceed to put the phone into the blender, grind it up and sprinkle it onto my food so I can inject shitposts straight into my bloodstream. When towards the later hours of the day approach and I sense myself losing consciousness, I pick up my emergency high-battery-efficient backup laptop and take it to my bed, where I continue raising my Hackumon until I pass out and dream about Omni.

I personally like this holiday.

Been dating my Girlfriend for a year and 4 months now. I see a future with her and never felt this way before.

At the point where it's an unexplainable feeling.

Spoiler (Click to View)

hopefully that's good enough :-)

My significant other means so much to me that I kept her nonexistent for the past 2 years. (for her own well being, of course)

I look forward to seeing if I qualify.

My ex left me with an STD and flew back to Ohio while I was left to deal with some bullshit charges and go to jail.

FWB will do for me until I am in my early thirties I think, homeslice.

Where do I start?

My GF and I are together for 2.5 years. For some it might be very little time and for others a lot. She means the world for me! This girl made and still makes me a better person. She made such a big change in my life knowingly and un knowingly.

Every year on Valentine's Day we're going to a restaurant and then to the theaters to watch a movie. This is our thing. This is what we like.

This year we did it as well. Sadly when the evening was over we had a huge fight. Things didn't look good for us. We got over it but I felt I had to do something for her to show my love back.

Today was a day off for her. I also took a day off. I took her for a road trip and we had so much fun! This day was amazing and we felt our spark back.

Anyways this is my story.
Hope you all had a great valentine's day ?

Well since I don't have a gf, let me tell you about my favorite animal. Its the raccoon. Oh my. I love raccoons more than anything in this planet. I would sell my business for if it meant to save raccoons. They are so intelligent, loving and beautiful. I have instagram just to follow tons of raccoon pages. I love raccoons out of my heart and I would do anything for them.

Yes raccoons are my SO.
