Thread: Rate my nighttime scene

Psilocybe - February 13, 2020, 9:47 am

Hey all, been working on a nighttime scene involving mushrooms for the past week or so, still not finished but it's getting close! This is for my clothesline (Pantheon) and I'm planning on printing this on hoodies using DTG.

Despite the obvious flaws, what do you guys think?

I like it, the it gives off a chill but cold feeling because the background is so dark. Looks great!

Love the whole vibe! Great job!

I like how it gets brighter as the words get physically closer to the moonlight. I also appreciate the detail that there's less distant stars as you're closer to the moon, and there's other stars in the darker corners. Great work!

I love it, text is a bit hard to read (assuming it really does say something).

But love the vibe it gives.

Thanks everybody for all the great feedback!! The text reads "Pantheon" which is the name of my local clothesline! Was aiming for a 'constellation' effect with the text but I can see how it's hard to read, currently working on revisions!

Thanks dawg ? Yeah I do everything in Photoshop from scratch - this image started with the brush tool, hard mechanical with 100% smoothing. Designs like these are better to be made in Illustrator but I've been using the shop since my balls dropped so Photoshop is better for me personally just cause I know all the hotkeys and functions.
