Ryan Newman was in a crash in Daytona 500

He is in serious but non life threatening condition.

Yea he is lucky to come out with only non life threatening issues. But it doesn't make sense to me on how someone can be in serious condition but it not be life threatening.

Hopefully he recovers fully though it was one hell of a crash.

That looks pretty awful I'm not gonna lie... Hopefully he recovers completely and recovers to go again another day.

Saw the breaking news last night on Local channel. Looked pretty brutal. He is definitely lucky to have survived that with serious, non-life threatening injuries. Prayers for him and his family.

Scariest NASCAR accident I've seen in a very long time. I'm happy to know that the crash ended up being non-fatal. Let's hope that whatever injuries he has aren't permanent.

Yea depending on his injuries it could end his racing career but hopefully not they need to give a more thorough update to his fans on what is going on.
