Thread: What do you think about marriage?

eXceptional - February 18, 2020, 8:15 pm

Hello Hack Forums. I'm happy today and decided to make this thread on the day of my happiness. I invite you all share your thoughts on marriage as I just got married recently which was on 16th Feb 2020.

I got a very beautiful wife and I'm sure I'll live with her happily. I'm also planning a small trip with her to India, Goa on 25th Feb 2020. Anyone from Hack Forums who can visit there would be great and I'll consider to even meet. I'll be staying in North Goa.

Thoughts on marriage.

A part of me sees it not as special as it's shown, but the thought of marrying my girlfriend I've been with for so long is just heart warming.

Plus, I know it would make is both happy when the time is right.

Loukas - February 18, 2020, 8:29 pm

I understand why people do it, I just don't think it is for me. It is heartwarming to see people, at least the side that you see, happy to spend their lives with the person they love.

Not to quote a movie line indirectly but... People go to weddings to be in the presence of true love, true love is your souls recognition of its counterpoint in another.

Pretty true statement, but again, not for me.

Cheers, and congratulations again!

Grim - February 18, 2020, 8:32 pm

Waste of money (my opinion). I would rather spend those thousands that people spend on weddings and rings to go do something fun with Somone I love. But I have lots of friends who got married and are very happy just not for me. Good luck on your honeymoon man!

Deployed - February 18, 2020, 8:32 pm

Just sent you a little somethin somethin to the BTC address. I always believed in marrying for the right reasons and always bounded by true and honest love

Eh, its basically the same as just living together except you have way more legal obligation if you get married plus if you break up its WAY worse legally for you id have to be sure it was someone I thought id never divorce for the rest of my life to consider it

Exe - February 18, 2020, 8:59 pm

I think it's beautiful but I rather have a baby first before I get married idk why

Zee - February 18, 2020, 9:17 pm

I would only consider getting married if I have already been with the girl for a couple of years, and I know for a fact that I can trust her. Although, getting married does not really mean that much to me, it's just a piece of paper to show you love & trust each other, as long as both of you are happy and love each other, then everything else won't matter.

Marriage is one of those things everyone can live without, but it's still nice to see someone and remember: 'Oh yeah, I love this person so much I married them'

Dhoroty - February 18, 2020, 10:41 pm

I think marriage by itself is a good thing. You show your beloved one, that (s)he is important to you, and you want something from the relationship.

But here comes the lawyers and greedy people... In several countries after the divorce man left with nothing and woman can live a carefree life. Like being a wife is a job, and after divorce they would get a huge dismissal pay...

So for me it is a tho sided thing, but I think I'm gonna get married

Yes, but why marry if you think it'll end?

Most marry only when they think it'll last forever, and not thinking about divorce and legal stuff.

And if before marriage you want to do the legal stuff, that seems a bit bad, isn't it? It is logical and etc, but not seems too 'lovefull'

Marriages is sacred and meant for the good of all people.

According to the bible (Genesis 2:24) "For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and be united to his wife, and they will become one flesh"

Two become one as they may say...A happy and fulfilling relationship :)

May God be always the center of your marriage...best wishes. God bless :)

Congratulations on your marriage and I hope it continues to be a happy and joyous bonding. :)

I was married once before years ago, it didn't end on too great of terms, but I still very much believe in the idea of devoting yourself to that one special person for the rest of your joined lives.

Congratulations again! What was your wedding's theme if I may ask?

Sad to hear about your marriage but there's life beyond marriage too and thank you for your wishes. I also wish you the best of luck for the rest of your lovely life.

Regarding the theme, It would more of a legal marriage that happened in the court as the girl's parents were not actually interested in attending the wedding. So we then decided to keep a grand reception after the legal wedding on 28th March.

Oh, well that makes sense I suppose, all except for your wife's parents not having the ambition to attend your nuptials. I'm sorry to hear that, even if you don't necessarily mind it. I like the way that sounds, a "grand reception."

Nyx - February 19, 2020, 9:09 am

40 to 50% of all marriages end in divorce and 20% of all marriages end within first 5 years.

You better be damned sure your partner is the one for life or you'll lose half your assets.

Congratulations

Marriage is the beginning—the beginning of the family—and is a life-long commitment. It also provides an opportunity to grow in selflessness as you serve your wife and children. Marriage is more than a physical union; it is also a spiritual and emotional union. This union mirrors the one between God and His Church.

Union of two people is not like combining half and a half to make a full but union of two full-fledged human beings that give rise to something divine and beautiful, they together elevate themselves and everyone who comes within their fold. That can only happen when one is completely selflessly devoted to each other and to themselves and the people around them.

I have been married for about 3 years now with a 10-year relationship before marriage :)

Happiness has been increased by folds since then :)

The thought of marriage is sorta weird to me, I like it but then I also don't. My girl is super into the idea of getting married nd talks about it a lot so I know its what she wants and feels very strongly about so I'll probably do it sometime next year - Probably get some form of prenup too so that there is less problems in future if something goes wrong (which can obviously happen).

(Feb 19, 2020 01:55 PM)eXceptional Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you think the actual problem is? Why are you not proposing her?

Well, the first reason is money. We've had rough years in the past and we're just starting to have more money but we still both live in an apartment so I don't see myself spending a lot of cash on a wedding.

Second reason is that we've had ups and downs quite often, we don't fight but we argue a lot so I'm not sure if I'm ready to commit to marriage just yet. Maybe in the future, who knows ?

SNAK - February 20, 2020, 8:31 am

Marriage is waste of money.

The success rate is so low. Chances are higher winning the lottery y'all.

Geralt - February 20, 2020, 10:28 am

How old are you? Marriage is a great thing at the right age. Too many kids jump into marriage at the age of <20.

You'll get a lot of different opinions considering that divorce rates vary from country to country and the fact that there is a lot of teenagers around here.
