if it helps you, here is a reply for your thread, so one step closer to world fame. ?

But it would be easier if you would give away a great stuff you made, or something worthier than this.

My most popular thread has to be for my free tool bootmapper which I released and promote on my signature. It's a high performance banner grabber for Linux with regular expression search functionality :)

Heres a reply, good luck with world domination! You're almost there!

Here's some more popularity.

My popular threads have now been deleted but yeah, I'm more of a lurker at the moment until I'm in the position to start working on something.

The information on whose thread is the most popular (view wise) here

<https://hackforums.net/stats.php>

GL on reaching that though OP, I'm sure you can beat 7.8k replies or 261k views ;)

Mostly threads that offer products or winning bytes. Try one of those. There are also some nice topics that get a lot of replies but they are rare. Think of one that will be interesting to HF users and you will get a few pages of replies.
