The above guy is a potential scammer, Help Docs says deal with anyone besides hf at your own risk.

if you are dealing with newbies or unreputed member, don't go first or always use a trusted middleman or escrow service.

i hope you will come back to this thread complaining about the members,

How to deal:

1. Always check the profile of the guy and his post histories, and judge yourself.
2. check if the guy is trusted member, high reputation and low open disputes.
3. Always deal on hackforum, Start a Contract and use a middleman if possible.
4. Only go first with those guys, whom you finds real or they have proof of the product.

Regards,

New accounts who instantly post their discord usernames on help threads are usually scammers.

Just keep reading, gosh. I said OP wouldn't have paid for that, hence no scam would've happen
