Thread: Pain from belly button to tip of penis?

Psychogenic - February 23, 2020, 1:07 pm

Okay, I know it sounds extremely weird but then I talked to my friend about it and he gets the same thing sometimes.

It's literally just a sharp pain that shoots from the belly button down to the tip of the penis. Not sure what causes it, but through a little searching, I see it's common among males.

I found this article but nobody seems to know what the cause is:

Does anybody else out there experience this from time to time? I can barely stand up straight at the moment, and it usually just goes away on its own.

Internally or externally? Sounds like a potential UTI or STI issue to me. Are you sexually active? If so get yourself checked at a clinic. It will bring you peace of mind.

I'd secondly this the only time I randomly got pains in the tip of my dick it was cause I had an std. I'd go to the clinic and get tested a lot of them can be cured with a dose of antibiotics they give you there.

I'll randomly have some sharp pains deep in my belly button when I stand up on lean forward. Never had it extending to my dick though. I'd call the nurse hotline and ask them lol (811 in canada)

It could be UTI or some other kind of infection. How often does it happen? I don't think it's common, I never had any type of penis-related pain and never heard of anyone having it.

Going online wont help ul've mentioned it to my doc while figuring out what's been going on with my stomach (diagnosed with IBS) and she didn't seem concerned. That was Gastroenterologist, though. I think I'll have to call my primary physician's nurse and talk to her about this.

I may have to call

It only seems to happen every once in a while and randomly, usually when I stretch or after I've been sitting down for a while.

That is sounding more like a nerve issue to me then. Perhaps break up times when you are sitting with some stretches or a small walk around and see if that is of benefit.

An infection in any part of the urinary system, the kidneys, bladder or urethra.

Urinary tract infections are more common in women. They usually occur in the bladder or urethra, but more serious infections involve the kidney.

I always found these "seeking for medical help" threads hilarious. If it was something scary and important you wouldn't be asking hackforums for help, go to the fucking doctor and ask the expert for help. This is simply attention seeking. I hope you'll be fine but you already made a mistake by posting it here.

if you need me to inspect your penis for you i will. i might find the source of the issue if you let me dig around in your belly button as well.
