It looks amazing. The font you used looks very clean. The contrast between black and orange I like it. If you were selling these, I'd love to buy one.

You should definitely share more of your art!
thanks mate, im looking forward for that Really like the dark chain effect on the second looks like you really put in that work respect on that

EYESPelerin - March 11, 2020, 4:10 am

I really love it! It is attractive and the colors are well chosen from the start.

Free Kurdistan - March 11, 2020, 4:24 am

Too many different fonts used in the first one, but I like the second one, good textures.

Quite simple and basic work but still good ideas. Would definitely like to see more of your designs but with some more content.

Personally I think those are quite big concepts with not too much content, besides that pros are that your threads are readable & very easy to navigate through just keep it up with clean designs/simplicity. Overall not bad, there is a little space for improvement in things like making transitions between sections & and making those overlayed/ low opacity bg stocks a bit more smooth & not use too many of them like on second design where you used total of 7-8 stocks on a bit too dark bg with really low opacity, you don't have much content or images regarding the content itself besides ones you have in the background,

Make it a bit brighter and transitions a bit more smooth, currently it looks like those images are just placed there without any effort to crop out unnecessary stuff, also I'd like to give you a quick tip, try not to use so much different fonts in a product presentations/landing pages/thread designs using only 2 or 3 should be enough you can even use more but at least make sure font designs are matching or have at least similar style to get more professional look, don't just use the random ones, spend some time checking out sans serif type of fonts or similar ones that give that professional but yet pretty basic style it's quite modern/trending nowadays in web design. :)

That's just my personal opinion mate. Keep it up, you're on a right path.
Really looking forward to see more work from you in the future.

Cheers! ?

That's good man.

The first one is good for the 2nd idk if it's only me but i do not like the typo, try to change it.

keep it up
