I suggest you put a bit more effort to the thread design. Its hard to read and understand.

znc - March 9, 2020, 10:38 am if it's legit profitable constantly (which it isn't because this is gambling lol) show your bustabit account links? then we can just see if you're profitable..

Hey, can you input the script here:

<https://mtihc.github.io/bustabit-script-simulator/>

This tool simulates bustabit scripts, this way you can show us what happens when it is run for 10000 games.

You don't have to show the code, just the output. For example, show us the result with hash a till b. This way we can see the true risk.

The simulator is open source <https://github.com/Mtihc/bustabit-script-simulator> , you can also see in the source of the page <https://mtihc.github.io/bustabit-script-simulator/> that there are no requests to a database/other website.

Just show us that it is truly a good script, you don't want people losing the script costs plus investment right?

Props for actually doing it. Better would be a simulation with 10 000 rounds since a simpe technique as martingale is also profitable with only 1000 rounds.

But if you do 10k rounds:

Not bad, but I see you didn't play all the 10k games. Statistically the previous outcomes don't matter when a new round starts so the script should play every round.

Also try a couple different hashes, unfortunately the linked website doesn't support doing multiple runs at once.

Always remember that if there was truly a way to always come out with profit consistently bustabit would be long broke.

The closest you can probably come with consistent profit is running a martingale script with an initial bet of 1 and a bankroll of 10 million bits which would let you survive 23 consecutive losses. I just simulated 100k rounds with this tool <https://jsfiddle.net/Dexon95/2fmuxLza/embedded/result/> (linked from the official bustabit site) and I got to 20 consecutive losses after 66k rounds which is already equal to 1.04million bits loss when your initial bet is only 1. If a round takes on average around 14 seconds (which is at the 2x mark approximately) and it happens once in every 100k rounds this will happen once every ~18.5 days if you leave it running full time.

sorry to say maybe you dont know many secret ,Martingale is the worst tactics ever in gambling ,90% People lose their Bet only for this Martingale shit ,Don't you think there are some people who use some different strategy to minimizing their loses and maximizes their earning ?Then you're wrong mate..anyways i appreciate every opinion ,So thanks for your opinion

There is no secret. Gambling isn't some magical thing where things like hot numbers and cold numbers actually matter, even though casinos would certainly want you to believe that:

It is just pure math, bustabit has a 1% house edge. This means that for every bet you make on average 1% will go to bustabit in the long run. This is unbeatable, there is no trick or secret.

You can make a complicated system which tries to look at old results but bustabit is provably fair and every round is random. You can make a complicated system where you bet and if you lose you do your bet times 1.1111 instead of doubling but then you cashout at 10. It all doesn't matter, this is in essence the same as martingale only slower.

Why do you think bustabit offers such a nice scripting feature? Because it is mathematically impossible for them to lose in the long run.

Will try to simulate my script for 100k rounds and see how it performs. :)

That you are approximately as good as a martingale script:

You might have a different doubling factor but that doesn't really matter:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Optional_stopping_theorem

According to that theorem you will always break even or lose.

If you do 1000 simulations with 100k rounds you will approximately win 490 of those. Because of the 1% house edge.

I can see you also started with 1M bits but had only 10% profits as compared to mine.

Maybe that's because my script has a higher payout (not really sure) yet the risk is same. I'll try running this script in future when I have spare cash. Until then, I'll keep it to myself !!

Hey guys,

So OP gave me a vouch copy for his script and I started running it with an investment of 10k bits and used 10 as a base bet.

It went really well for me as I was able to earn 10k bits in about 3 - 4 hours.

OP was really helpful as he was closely monitoring the script, and gave me directions often. Currently, I'm running this script again from a new account, and I'm at 2.2k bits profit as I'm writing this.

I will update this post again in a couple of hours.

UPDATE: I just busted on my second account. I'm not in a loss since I earned 10k bits when I ran it successfully the first time. But I'm not in profit either.

I probably won't run it again. I will update here if I decide to run it again.

Sad to hear your lose,As i said in the thread there is no way making gambling 100% safe,Sometimes it will work sometimes its not,But my script surely reduce the losing chance like 90% and maximize the earning as you saw with the first ac.anyways thanks for the honest review
