Yes, this is what the trade war is all about. From my research I now understand, mainly the United States has made China a prosperous nation, not China itself. Now China is getting cocky and wants world domination. Namely, they teach their citizens that the United States is their greatest enemy. The irony of this whole war. Basically the United States is at war with China right now. Not a type of war that most are used to witnessing.

Exactly, but at the same time the United States would have to not depend on slave labor. I personally do not agree with either side. It's all elitist agenda to begin with, if anything the average United State citizen suffers for the wealth of the Chinese.

It's just a new flu man, no more deadly than the average flu. I personally think I already had it, was sick as hell for a week or so, had all the symptoms. Still here typing bro! I just don't run to the doctor because of a fever and cough. I have been sicker in the past as a kid.

Yep, here's a map that has everything you need to know including 68,324 total recovered that you don't see in the news. The issue is the way it spreads is just so fast even tho the Ebola was deadlier but it's just the way it spreads.

How 68,324 recovered? I have read that there is no vaccine for COVID-19. US and other countries are going to make a vaccine and it will take atleast a year.

Dude, do you know what an immune system is? Do you know you are constantly under attack by pathogens and viruses? Do you know how white blood cells, your liver and kidneys function? Do other animals create and take vaccines? Not to sound like a jerk or insulting. We are made to fight our own sicknesses.

If anything vaccines are playing god with natures natural selection. The panic is created from people who are used to running to the doctor for a flu shot every year. There is NO FLU SHOT for the Corona Virus. Hence the freak out. We live in a society dependent on health care. In all people who depend on the medical systems vaccines have very weak immune systems. A homeless man with no health care is physical more naturally immune to illness than a rich person who has a doctor for every ailment they come across.

Ronald Reagan called Soviet Russia the Empire of evil, but it's nothing in comparison with China. China is doubtlessly the most dystopian regime ever to have existed, Xi Jinping has means of repression which Mao could only dream of. Politicians and capitalists in the west are largely to blame for the rise of China. It's investments by America and western Europe that have made them rich. Even Donald Trump has done almost nothing, now he even says he is prepared to end the trade war.

I am fully serious when I say this: I would rather see global nuclear war than Chinese world domination. That would be beyond nightmarish.

Like @Rsyncd said and Corona virus death rate is 3.4% while Ebola was 70% but as i said it's the spread that makes it crazy not the death rate. What is a bit scary is that there are some sources stating that people that were healed got infected again by Corona virus but not sure if it's true.

So far we know the virus can't live in a warm weather so once we hit 80s and 90s we should be good if we are more cautious till it's gone. Good thing I live in the south where our summer hits 110s everyday XD only time i thank this hot weather.

From my own personal research this is true. China was making a turn around to be a modern world country, but the peoples ruler/emperors still have the ancient China mind state. Very dystopian, they even track every citizen with smart phones and fitbits. You are required to complete certain daily tasks or you lose points on your social credit score.
