My mom and brother both have fever and dry cough, nothing serious so far tho. It's most likely corona but Sweden won't run tests on possible cases anymore. They save the tests for people who

From my understanding there is a lack of tests and as the virus is spreading out of control, they don't see any point in testing people other than more serious cases which require hospital care.

Here's what pretty much all of my country is doing:

- If you're sick, stay home until symptoms dissapear (+2 days).
- Social gatherings of 500+ people forbidden
- Jobs which can be done from home should do so

Ye, I go out everyday too , going out on group is not allowed and u gotta be careful. Also our borders are closed, cars are not allowed except for media, police, military and ambulances. Jobs are all closed, only food shops or pharmacies works till 4 pm. My country is close to Italy and we got Corona because a lot of our population lives there and they all came back. In my opinion United States are taking it as a joke and also UK is unaware but this is a chaotic situation. It looks like WW3 against a invincible enemy.
