ControlL - March 13, 2020, 3:17 am

Hello Ladies & Gents, I'm offering a new 2020 SHOPIFY METHOD. In this method I will be working alongside you to pick a niche and show you exactly how you can take advantage of it instantly, this method I've been using myself since Feb 2020 and I have been CONSISTENTLY selling between $200/$300 a day easily.

I've been consistently making money from my store and it's now become my primary source of income, I recently launched a store in feb 2020 and now it's on aim to get $7500/8000 in revenue this month $, if you're looking for a serious business where you can work from the ground up alongside me but with no prior experience this is PERFECT for you.

Dropshipping is still very alive and people are creating stores and making thousands upon thousands everyday, so the best times to take action is NOW and make YOURSELF financially free.

So far, I have learned an extremely valuable amount of information when it comes to dropshipping, ads, shopify, setting up a store, learning to understand analytics, product research and tons more! We have also managed to launch my store and make it live, which impressively converted a sale within minutes of ads running.

I must say, Control is extremely knowledgable when it comes to this field, he has been patient, and eager to help me learn and succeed while mentoring me. He is always available to answer my questions or provide support and help via TeamViewer when I am unsure of something. I will continue to update this thread with my progress as my store matures and as I continue to learn more from him.

Do not hesitate to purchase his mentorship if you're new and looking to get into dropshipping!

Started yesterday after our time zones are pretty bad. Have to say Control is really amazing in the way he explains everything step by step. We are on product selection and just about to create the store hopefully in the next 24 hours. But currently I'm happy with this mentorship at the moment. Obviously no results since we haven't started the proper store setup and also fb ads. But I feel he is really here to help us make a second income.

At the moment anyone who wants to join, recommend to join if you want to make a extra income. Or you can wait to see how my journey goes.

Alright so just 2 simple questions.

1. If you started your first store a month ago why do you think you're capable of teaching anyone anything for $300, usually people that do hit these numbers early start mentorships because their margins are dog shit with a huge amount of adspend. If you could disclose your adspend though it would probably clear up a lot of it.

2. What exactly do you mean by new "method" you're just gonna be giving tips on ads and be there to answer any question a new guy can make right. The method is make a shopify store and run fb/ig ads. What gives you the right to advertise this as a new "method" and not just mentorships/tips for beginners in shopify.

Please don't take offense in anything I just said, just wondering.

Okay my friend Mr. McDonald,

1. Please show me where I've ever stated that this store is my first store ever? I'm purely showcasing ONE of my stores for the general public to get an idea of how quickly it can grow.

2. Yet another wrong assumption my friend, I'm using a specific method which I know is brand new to dropshipping (I've been in this game a good amount of time) and what I'm exactly doing here is fresh to the dropshipping game!

No offence taken, but I don't really like your approach towards the thread, I hope those answers clarify any judgement or misunderstanding you have, have a lovely day.

In what way does your way of doing ecommerce become a method? To me ecommerce has always been an business model rather than a method.

Find a 'winning product', setup up a HQ store, get traffic. The more money you put into marketing, the more leads you will get. The more time you put into setting up the business, the more you will convert leads into sales.

Of course you have methods/ strategies within a business model, otherwise how can you implement a strategy/method within a business model?

Hey Social, thanks for taking an interest in my mentoring course, certainly, so in terms of getting started you don't actually require anything yourself, I walk you through exactly each step in terms of store, hosting, domains, ads - everything basically, you'd require some additional funds for these, but nothing more than $100/$200 to get the fundamentals up and running. As regards to guarantees, no one can offer guaranteed money, however you will be provided with all the resources in order to be getting sales and it will be all down to how much time you apply the knowledge that has been taught to you! Feel free to PM me with any further questions! Thanks.

We just had our first session today. It was a pretty long session, almost 3 hours, and we covered a lot today. OP walked me through everything patiently, and even helped me set up the website via Teamviewer. The website is almost done. The only thing that is left to do is the website design, which would be fairly simple as OP provided me with videos explaining how to design the website.

We will be having another session this weekend hopefully. I will keep everyone updated.

Another update

So myself and control spent a good solid 3 hours starting to design the store, he actually sent me a video to watch so i can understand how shopify works step by step including setting up the theme, creating the individual pages etc. Finally have the store at 95% ready, just have to get the logo, fb ads, instagram logo all done and have control review the whole website from top to bottom in order to get his approval before we go live with ads.

Now i know to all of you that are or aren't familiar with shopify you would be saying "that's easy to do without a mentorship blah blah". However, the way control showed me via the video, literally saved me hours and $$ to figure out how to create and design a store.

I am now moving onto the next phase of the mentorship which will be fb ads to learn how to get all that up and running. Myself and control think in the next 48-72 hours that i should be close to having this store go live. Once all that happens, i will update you all again.

Control so far has been incredible, very motivating in the way that he wants me to succeed and invest his time to continuously make me a shopify wiz.

- 2) I really dont know much about drop shipping so i will like to know what through which medium you get your profits (cryptos or bank transfer or gift cards)
- 3) After paying you 299$ to learn the method you also stated that an investment of btw 100$-200$ will be needed to set up. Is this price fixed or the more you have to invest the more your gains ?

Once these questions are answered then i could make a decision but btw nice thread you got in here

Had my first session with ControlL this monday, we spend a good 3 hours setting everything up we also did a teamviewer session where he did lots of work for me. And i love how indepth he explains everything i've learned lots just from that one session alone, he sent me a video explaining how to design my store which is a big time saver. Cool guy to talk to!

Taphox - March 25, 2020, 3:19 pm

I have been talking with ControlL for a couple days, really nice guy. We have a session scheduled later. Looking forward to it!

Another update for you guys

So we finally have put the store live. Me and control spent a few hours making sure I understood how ads work. How to create them, duplicate etc.. we finally got the whole store live now. I actually love the fact control is always saying that this may not be the winning product, it may be the next one or one after that. True honesty makes this mentorship Worth every dollar.

So essentially store is live now, i will keep you posted how it goes. Finally good to have this store up and running. No matter what if this store doesn't work out, we just move on. Not every product you sell will be a winning product.

Great to see more people on board, control deserves it

I've purchased this mentorship and have been working with Control for the past week. So far, I have learned an extremely valuable amount of information when it comes to dropshipping, ads, shopify, setting up a store, learning to understand analytics, product research and tons more! We have also managed to launch my store and make it live, which impressively converted a sale within minutes of ads running.

I must say, Control is extremely knowledgable when it comes to this field, he has been patient, and eager to help me learn and succeed while mentoring me. He is always available to answer my questions or provide support and help via TeamViewer when I am unsure of something. I will continue to update this thread with my progress as my store matures and as I continue to learn more from him.

Do not hesitate to purchase his mentorship if you're new and looking to get into dropshipping!

We had our first session yesterday and he explains it very well. Easy to follow. If I have any questions I can just ask them. Chill man to work with.

In yesterday's session we did all the prior research, and today we prepared for the store.

First session was I think around 2-3 hours long, today's one a bit shorter.

He is also pretty active and for me the time zones are ideal, so scheduling in a session is very easy.

iR2L's Review #1: Initial Training

Bought his course Tuesday and got my first lesson this morning. I already have experience but I want to get to the point of getting mad sales so I took the time to invest in myself by investing into the vendors method! Currently have a store up and will be doing marketing soon, for me this is a fast track training to success. Who knows?

Review On Performance:

1. Communication: 5 / 5

- He is good at replying and explaining stuff. I receive replies to questions within 1 hour if hes busy and if he not busy within 5 minutes!

2. Professionalism: 5 / 5

- He is very professional, feel free to ask stupid questions. If you want to succeed do not be afraid to blow him up with questions, he will answer.

3. Accessibility: 3 / 5

- One of my concerns is he is EU based so me and him matching up for a learning session is a pain but thanks to COVID-19 I am working from home and can do both work and chat with him to learn. Just make your schedule work so you can get your knowledge! He is reliable on time too, perhaps he should work for the local cable company!

4. Price: 5 / 5

- I have spent tons of money on courses and pirating courses, nothing really beats having someone on teamviewer telling you what you need to do to succeed. Most courses is a course and you have to pay heaps of additional money to get help. Well screw that, just go directly to this guy for X amount of money and get taught the game.

5. Results?

- Coming on the next review :) store is being made in a nice niche and we will go from there.

The value in what I teach you can bring you in easily over $10k. Also that's incorrect, I'm netting 30% on my stores, these photos were just an example of start up stores :) Thanks for your questions though.

Alright so i'll keep this short and simple, i am not gonna dispute any contract i have had with control because he did provide a service but the overall result is below. I am just providing a real review of his mentorship that he is selling. Not every review on a thread has to be positive, your going to get negative as well.

It's really not worth the $300 in my opinion and NO i am not here to sales trash his thread, but be real and show what was given to me for the mentorship.

1. Videos on how to make a facebook ad (public youtube video)
2. Video on how to make a shopify store and design (private video)
3. Product from a supplier which had no PROPER reason as to why he picked it
4. Website - earkitty.com (would like to know if anyone would order from it or trust it)
5. Spent around 80$ on facebook ads that ran for around 7 days and gained probably 5,000 people reached (93 or so visitors to the store)
6. 1 Abandon checkout sales
7. $0 Sales

Thank you and i hope this helps anyone wanting to buy the service.

P.s incase anyone who thinks i am out of the rules...

13. Sales trashing - discouraging a sale without proper reason or pointing to the thread of competitor product/service; Customers (that have an Active/Completed/Disputed Contract with the vendor) posting negative reviews is not a violation and should not be reported as such. Users abusing this option will be sanctioned.

I'm really disappointed about your review here, I spent countless hours working with you and even offered off work help wherever I could with you, in a result you tried charging me back and getting nasty. I provided you a service to teach you how to do dropshipping, you received that service, I showed you how to source products, how to source suppliers, how to create a website, how to run fb ads, I provided the service which you paid for. As I mentioned and as everyone knows with dropshipping, you won't always get it right first time, it's trial and error connecting the right product with the right Target audience, I even offered extended help upon fulfilling the mentorship with you. You didn't fully listen, you cut ads before maturity without my consent, your point 1 is false, I linked you to how to create a fb ads manager account, I showed you over teamviewer personally how to create fb ads 1on1, ALSO not to mention the site is optimised for mobile users not desktop. Anyway as mentioned I will be terminating working further with you, due to your lack of respect and patience, good luck in the future.

Not to mention a complete contradiction of what you say here

Started yesterday after our time zones are pretty bad. Have to say Control is really amazing in the way he explains everything step by step. We are on product selection and just about to create the store hopefully in the next 24 hours. But currently I'm happy with this mentorship at the moment. Obviously no results since we haven't started the proper store setup and also fb ads. But I feel he is really here to help us make a second income.

At the moment anyone who wants to join, recommend to join if you want to make a extra income. Or you can wait to see how my journey goes.

Damn, where I feel like ControlL didn't lack in what he provides and offers for the mentorship, I suppose having a bad product is something that you may not be able to do much about. I do feel the headphones were overpriced though, and not too big of a fan of the website if I'm completely honest.

The product isn't bad, it sells online and around that price range, the problem is connecting the correct target audience which isn't always the easiest to do and takes some trialing, also the site is optimised for mobile conversions, so if you re-visit via your mobile I'm sure you will have a different opinion about the site :)

Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

So for the sake of future customers that are sitting on the fence in terms of whether this is the right mentorship. Since i have disputed my claims with control, it has shown myself and other HF members what attitude and heart he has as not only a member but a human being. I am very happy to have been the one who took the bullet for future customers and show you below a few comments in which control has responded to especially with some real life scenarios that are happening for myself. I don't expect you guys to feel sorry for me lol.. that's really not the point but for you all to see how this so called "mentor" is and i hope you all think 10 times before considering this young human being to be your mentor/clay davis.

Cheers and all the best to everyone already in motion of the mentorship. Take care

Quite shocked to see such behaviour, I think it's safe for me to say I made the correct decision by not trusting him so quickly if this is his attitude. Thank you for this.

Learned a lot the past few weeks working with Control been testing different variations of ads to connect to the right market.

I've made a few sales and had a few abandon cart check outs. Just for future buyers, don't expect to get rich quick from drop shipping, it's a lot trial and errors until your product can connect to the right market, like any real business. The information I learned and consumed from Control so far was definitely worth it.

Will be trying a new adset this week and hopefully get some good results. The market is tense right now until the pandemic is over, which will be better for all of us in the game. Patience my friends.
