Thread: What is your clothing style?

Perileos - March 14, 2020, 6:45 am

During the week I usually wear a suit or casual formal but in the weekends I wear flannel/t-shirt, jeans and my vans.

What about you all?

Seagulls - March 14, 2020, 8:07 am

I wear the same type of tracksuit bottoms always (I have a few pairs) and T-shirt. I dress like a tramp, even when I had money...

Everything black and white. I wear biker jackets, bombers, faux fur jackets, polo t-shirts, jeans, shoes, Chelsea boots.

I don't remember when was the last time I went to a public place in a tracksuit.

Also never wore a suit in my life.

From tracksuits up to suits. It all depends where I work, who I am visiting or meeting up with and of course in my spare time I'm not sitting on the couch with a suit and tie..

I will sit in my suit with tie when I come back home from a long day, can't be bothered to go and change my clothing.

I understand, everybody got a different way of 'relaxing' at home. I rather change clothing and relax than feeling 'tight' in clothes as I'm still doing business.

My stuff from high school still fits so I wear a lot of skater brands but i buy new t shirts occasionally. I'm a hoodie and ballcap type of guy though.

If I'm at work I will usually wear some professional clothing, such as a long sleeve button-up with dress pants(tried wearing ties, just no), but my casual wear is blue jeans/khakis with a band/comic t-shirt for comfort.

Just regular clothes, jeans, and shirt. If it's some special occasion I'll dress appropriately for it.

Hate this manic trend of buying branded clothing, most of these people look ridiculous, for example those huge Balenciagas, wouldn't wear them even if you pay me. You can't buy a style.

Sick - March 14, 2020, 5:25 pm

I'm normally wearing blue jeans and a t-shirt or jumper possibly a hoodie and a pair of timberland boots .. When i go out pair of dress trousers and a nice shirt and timberland shoes ..
