Thread: Get some \$\$\$ ~ U.S. Seeks to Send Checks to Americans as Part of Stimulus Package

Rsynced - March 17, 2020, 2:29 pm

Hey it's happening, Trump is finally giving out some big money to help us all!

Supposedly, If you make under $65,000/year you will get a check ranging from anywhere in between $1000 - $2000 USD

USA USA USA ?

Anyways good news for all of us poor white trash/hood rats and struggling middle-class citizens ?

U.S. Seeks to Send Checks to Americans as Part of Stimulus Package

Coronavirus-driven economic slowdown prompts $1 trillion stimulus proposal, including effort to get money into consumers' pockets.

Quote:The Trump administration wants to send direct cash payments to Americans in the next two weeks to help them cope with the economic ravages of the coronavirus, Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin said Tuesday, part of a massive economic stimulus package taking shape between the White House and Capitol Hill.

The overall price tag of the package could be around $1 trillion, Mnuchin told reporters on Capitol Hill after meeting with GOP senators, making it one of the largest federal emergency fiscal packages ever assembled. News of the stimulus planning sent the Dow Jones industrial average up more than 1,000 points on Tuesday, more than 5 percent. However, reservations expressed by Democrats Tuesday over various aspects of the package taking shape between Senate Republicans and the White House suggested that it could take some time to arrive at a bipartisan agreement that could pass both chambers of Congress.

The scramble for a deal comes while the coronavirus pandemic has ended everyday life for many Americans. On Tuesday, North Carolina's Outer Banks took steps to begin restricting tourists and visitors in an effort to reduce travel and limit permanent residents' exposure. The San Francisco area began implementing a "shelter-in-place" approach with residents, a tactic New York officials are also studying. Marriott International, the world's largest hotel brand, meanwhile, begun furloughs affecting tens of thousands of employees as a global pandemic wears on large segments of the economy.

Well that's nice. Do you still need to pay for treatment if you get life threatening covid-19?

I'm not from the US, don't know much about ur health care system except that its not free.

I am not sure. I do not think they cover medical expenses. Most people here are just going to self treat and stay home either way infected or not.

Hopefully I'll still get something since I'm no longer working. They're basically going off by your tax returns you filled this year and according to my income I'm a broke cake.

I think you meant "the tax return you filed last year". Tax day is April 15th 2020 + 90 days delayed

Perfect, I was able to get my income super low as I've been a student all of 2019.

I did some research and the stimulus checks will be going out automatically within the next 2 weeks. If you filed taxes last year and received a refund via direct deposit then you may get the stimulus directly deposited into your bank account, if not they will mail it to the address you provided on your tax return. If you have never filed your taxes in your life then you will not receive a stimulus payment.

Right now congress is arguing that EVERYONE (adults) should get a check even if you don't pay taxes.

Anything like this in Canada? LOL

Sigma - March 28, 2020, 2:38 pm

This is pretty cool. Did they say anything about people who make over that amount? I didn't find anything when reading it.

Just search google. The full bill has been passed.

Demonstrate - March 28, 2020, 7:45 pm

This should be nice since it's going to the majority of people, even those who are still working.

Rsynced - March 28, 2020, 7:46 pm

You have to be a tax payer / filed your taxes. At least filed 0 last year.

mudbenson - March 28, 2020, 8:32 pm

Pretty amazing that this is happening.

Rayner - March 31, 2020, 12:50 am

Australia has something similar $1,500 a fortnight for anyone that has a job but can't work due to virus (have to be over 16 years old)

DoppleGanger - April 18, 2020, 12:44 am

A nice little bit of cash to help out, i won't lie. $1200 dollars is sweet when its free.

But lets talk about how the program basically screws almost every college student. The vast majority of those 18-23 year old students that are in college are screwed in the sense that you are still considered a dependent.

This being that when you go to fill out FAFSFA or any federal loan for tuition, unless you meet special criteria (Being homeless, death of parent/guardian, emancipated, Etc.) you are required to use one of your parents social security numbers. There for, if you have your own bills and have been on your own since a young age the government still recognizes you as a "Dependent", Which is BS. What will they do if their parents don't help them and they have all their own bills and have been laid off.

Congress should have worded this bill a bit better in the formulation and should have taken this into consideration. Can't complain to much because they do give out a fat pellgrant to those whose parents make less than 70k.
