

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: If I come off like I don't know anything , it's because I don't.

Catiedollars - March 18, 2020, 11:27 pm

So I want to learn everything but I will start where ever I can. Also I enjoy new friends and good humour ??

RealSkr0 - March 19, 2020, 12:11 pm

Define "everything." Everything in malware, ewhoring, remote access, phishing or what? Not very easy to learn literally everything

iTHX - March 19, 2020, 5:05 pm

You either sound like you are mistaken or you want to show off to your classmates.

Real hacking takes years, and one may not simply learn "everything". Not even in beginner hacking.

People usually take themselves down one branch, be it anonymity, coding, eWhoring, digital marketing, social media hacking, social engineering, reverse engineering, SQLi/XSS and server hacking etc.

I'd recommend you learn the fundamentals, find what suits you and what you are interested in. You can't, I repeat can't learn about something you are not interested in.

Take a while to think why you really want to get into hacking, what are you interested in.

You couldn't be in a better place to learn about hacking. We, as a community, have some of the most clever and intuitive people in the hacking industry willing to help.

I hope you find what you are looking for, and don't be afraid to ask questions. The more you ask, the more refined they will get, the more refined they get results in more usable information to find what you want to do.

You're very welcome to my help, and I will help where ever I can.