Thread: Web design: Upgrade pages

Hi.

I wanted to hear your opinion about the following upgrade page:

(There is glitter behind the userbars that is why there are white dots around it)

The "denied" parts are still to be filled in, these are merely placeholders as of now.
I did not make the userbars, just the design for this upgrade page.

This is really nice.

I might experiment trying more rounded boxes to fit the more rounded style of the userbars, might not fit the site though. Context is important! :P

Overall solid spacing, font, and color choices.

Agreed, I'd match the border radius of the table boxes with the userbars. Also it seems the feature list isn't properly vertically centered.

I would also add a little more vertical spacing for the userbar containers, but that's just my preference. Solid design overall.

Thank you.

The boxes don't seem aligned because it's a snapshot out of the page, there's more on the page hence why.

Thanks though!
