

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Beer shortage

ASLR - March 22, 2020, 5:42 pm

So if the alcohol companies start making hand sanitizer instead, Will America run out of beer? I project that my beer stash will only last another month-ish :(

Bear - March 22, 2020, 5:43 pm

(Mar 22, 2020 05:42 PM)ASLR Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So if the alcohol companies start making hand sanitizer instead, Will America run out of beer? I project that my beer stash will only last another month-ish :(I highly doubt we will reach the months figures to be locked down, maybe 8 weeks, which I see as the new number being thrown around. I doubt there will be a beer shortage unless they somehow think this will cure them too, like how they hoarded toilet paper after the scare of dying while shitting your pants. lol

SIM-3609092 - March 22, 2020, 5:46 pm

To be fair I think that beer is more important than hand sanitizer so like... Hopefully that doesn't happen.

ASLR - March 22, 2020, 5:48 pm

(Mar 22, 2020 05:46 PM)GNStuff Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) To be fair I think that beer is more important than hand sanitizer so like... Hopefully that doesn't happen.

I agree man. If you're stuck in your house indefinitely then you for sure need beer more than hand sanitizer (thumbs up)

(Mar 22, 2020 05:43 PM)Bear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I highly doubt we will reach the months figures to be locked down, maybe 8 weeks, which I see as the new number being thrown around. I doubt there will be a beer shortage unless they somehow think this will cure them too, like how they hoarded toilet paper after the scare of dying while shitting your pants. lol

Some people have been saying that vodka cures covid lmao

webdev77 - March 22, 2020, 5:54 pm

Most beer is made from barley. Ethanol for sanitizers is generally from wheat and rye. Your whiskey supply would be at much greater risk. Beer not so much.

SIM-3609092 - March 22, 2020, 5:55 pm

(Mar 22, 2020 05:54 PM)webdev77 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Most beer is made from barley. Ethanol for sanitizers is generally from wheat and rye. Your whiskey supply would be at much greater risk. Beer not so much.

Relax no one asked you to hit us with all that knowledge!

Just kidding but yeah that definitely makes sense. Good thing I don't drink Whiskey or I would lose my mind.

Rsynced - March 22, 2020, 6:03 pm

Time to start a micro brewery and still in your garage, Let's bring bootlegging back ;)

Dorrance - March 22, 2020, 6:04 pm

I would say stay away from alcohol much you know what it does to the immune system

Cameron - March 22, 2020, 6:05 pm

(Mar 22, 2020 05:42 PM)ASLR Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So if the alcohol companies start making hand sanitizer instead, Will America run out of beer? I project that my beer stash will only last another month-ish :(If we run out of beer that's when the riots will well and truly start

Condoms - March 22, 2020, 6:38 pm

They make enough, to not even think of running out of beer. They could easily make both and still have funds left over.

rSM- - March 22, 2020, 6:51 pm

I highly doubt there would be a shortage, considering the amount of beer and alcohol Americans go through when there isn't a pandemic or crisis happening. If anything I feel as though there will be more beer available due to the fact that beer isn't on the top of most people's lists at this time.

Photograph - March 22, 2020, 6:53 pm

Alcohol is usually produced in mass.

I highly doubt there will ever be a shortage.

Our local beer stores have still been open although they only allow a certain amount of people in the store at one time.

Nyx - March 22, 2020, 6:56 pm

Alcohol is considered an essential in the states that shutdown.

Also you should look up how beer is actually brewed. You could do it yourself.

Luca - March 22, 2020, 7:05 pm

Just drink the hand sanitizer idiot.

Donace - March 23, 2020, 2:48 pm

Not to make you all jealous, I'm in self-quarantine and got around 300-ish bottles of beer stashed????

AYMG - March 23, 2020, 2:50 pm

(Mar 23, 2020 02:48 PM)Eiyvor Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Not to make you all jealous, I'm in self-quarantine and got around 300-ish bottles of beer stashed????

Ship me one, I'm thirsty af.

Donace - March 23, 2020, 2:53 pm

(Mar 23, 2020 02:50 PM)AYMG Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ship me one, I'm thirsty af.

I would bro, but unfortunately (for you) I carefully calculated my daily consumption for 3 months.

I cant afford to mess it up, I'd be grumpy af here at HF....

Sick - March 23, 2020, 3:01 pm

Yeah wouldn't bother me i don't drink beer .. I have stopped drinking all alcohol not touched a drop for over 8 months . Not saying i have stopped for ever one day i might start again .. But feel a lot better/fitter for stopping drinking :-)

Nuworld - March 23, 2020, 3:07 pm

(Mar 23, 2020 03:01 PM)Sick Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah wouldn't bother me i don't drink beer .. I have stopped drinking all alcohol not touched a drop for over 8 months . Not saying i have stopped for ever one day i might start again .. But feel a lot better/fitter for stopping drinking :-)

Beer ? I have my stock pile.

Lorem Ipsum - March 23, 2020, 3:09 pm

I doubt, but we can't be sure.. a lot of businesses, freelancers and companies are on shortage or facing a huge profit loss.

Sick - March 23, 2020, 3:13 pm

(Mar 23, 2020 03:07 PM)Nuworld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Beer ? I have my stock pile.

?? I used to be like that with Magners cider lol . Actually i have 8 tins sitting in the kitchen it's not tempting me "yet" LoL ??

GreenMartian - March 23, 2020, 3:16 pm

I can't see there being a beer shortage especially when people are staying away from Coronas as it is haha