Thread: [Takedown | Hacking/Programming Enthusiast Group \[Unofficial\]](#)

html - March 24, 2020, 10:45 am

Purpose

PHP Code

<?php

Takedown was originally created by HTML to host a friendly meeting between those who are skillful in the arts of exploitation, programming and generic creative technical thinking. We aren't interested in your "Quality", Post count, Usergroup or Rep. We only value what sparks you and the core foundations of the things that make you be completely outstanding among those that are here to waste time and online bandwidth. We don't "strive", we have no goals, no needs, no common criteria other than our skill. We only have a single pure interest in mind and that is to become better at what we do. And we help each-other get it.

Member interest

PHP Code

<?php

We are looking for security/programming enthusiasts, with an emphasize for experience and an extreme tendency to question what is "right" and test what is "limit".

Goodluck with it, Do let me know if you require any help with anything.

I do not use telegram. If you have some other platform do let me know.
I am CEH, OSCE certified. I will most probably clear CISA this year.
