Thread: My disgust for China grows stronger.

Roberto Scorpius Malfoy - March 25, 2020, 5:33 pm

My disgust for China grows stronger with each passing day the more I reflect on this shit virus that could have been avoided with fairly simple means. 15,000 have died in the world with almost half a million infected and we have barely started - many, many more to wait, infected as deaths. Because some fucking idiots couldn't stay away from rats, snakes, dogs, bats and other sick fucking crap that they push into themselves.

Fucking. Idiots.

This is such a sick time to live in. We are currently suffering from a virus that will not be able to be stopped by other means than existing antiviral drugs that can (or cannot) limit the damage to some extent, herd immunity worldwide with perhaps hundreds millions of dead as a result, a crashed world economy and a vaccine that can at best be used on a full scale only in the summer of 2021, when insane people have already died.

The most surreal and anxiety-ridden in this hell is that people have family members at risk who are likely to be infected sooner or later, and the only thing one can hope for is that they are strong enough to withstand the virus and recover, and not die on a crowded hospital. Going around and having this worry about knowing that it will last for at least 3-6 months is so damn sick.

If China wasn't a important when it comes to delivering a lot of things to other countries, I would easily vote to nuke that shit country because all the flues and viruses come from that crap country.

I thought from the beginning in my simplicity that people ate bats, antlers and strange monkeys because of poverty, which held back the hatred.

But no, no, it's the opposite. It is a status symbol to invite people home and invite all kinds of exotic animals. Kind of like having a nice car or a pool. The poor eat rice and tofu.

China has really taken off seriously now. Not only are they an overpopulated poison factory, but they have a widespread culture also where hygiene does not exist. Whatever happens now, China's economy will suffer great damage from this. Their reputation has dropped sharply and many companies will stay away from them. That's what I imagine.

"I would easily vote to nuke that Clay Davis country because all the flues and viruses come from that crap country."

Mad because of this "chinese virus" when H1N1 has killed millions of people.

"In the spring of 2009, a novel influenza A (H1N1) virus emerged. It was detected first in the United States and spread quickly across the United States and the world. This new H1N1 virus contained a unique combination of influenza genes not previously identified in animals or people. This virus was designated as influenza A (H1N1)pdm09 virus. Ten years later work continues to better understand influenza, prevent disease, and prepare for the next pandemic."

Your blatant ignorance is infuriating ..

It surprises me that the nurses who care for the infected as well as the police and the army who gather in their hundreds haven't had a single reported case/death but are around potentially infected people daily. The virus is bull. Fear mongering for reasons I don't know. Anyway, I wont be doing lock down or washing my hands 40 times a day anymore. I'll be enjoying my time off doing whatever I want.

If it is as deadly as they want you to believe, I hope it kills me soon, I'm sick to death (pun intended) of hearing about it in adverts, newspapers/news, online and messages to my phone.

Remember to wash your feet.

indonesia, thailand and philippines are countries with most chinese population outside china but how come they're cases is smaller compared to those countries with lesser chinese people ?

some parts here in philippines and even here in our village, have lots of people eating dogs and bats but how come they're free from the virus ?

do you really think it really originated from eating exotic foods ?

First reports did come in from Wuhan china, now the question to ask is how did an animal virus infect a human. Did someone fuck an animal? Did someone get bitten by one? What about wet markets, how clean are they and what are they selling? Let's take a primary source of someone who lives in the country.

COVID-19 is SARS-CoV-2.

SARS-CoV-1 was patented by the United States of America in 2015.

The US has about 30 illegal bioweapon facilities in the world - one of them is just outside of Wuhan (you can easily cross-check this by wikileaks).

So if your going for "disgust" - you should look a bit in the other way then to china.

and just CoV for humans was also patented by the US in 2007 - US patent #7220852B1

As much as I would love to see them go down in terms of trade relations, I doubt it will happen as most of the third world countries are dependent on China for their livelihood in many sectors. Long story short: All this screams 'biological warfare' to me.

Pennywise,

Correct: those are the ones that never lived or been to china.
they don't have a clue what it's like.

it's well known i live 6 months out of the year in china and the other 6 months in the U.S.
I'm married to a Chinese citizen, In fact i was married in china over 14 years ago.
so i would say i know a thing or two about the real life in china.

The thing that gets me is, people talking shit about china and the U.S. and have never stepped foot in or lived in ether country.

Oh! i read it on the internet, so it must be true.

Pennywise,

Maybe it's because some people have had family who actually experienced communism or an authoritarian government?

I have family from Korea and friends whose family fought against the Chinese army in the KMT/Taiwanese army...and we all have friends who are Chinese who experienced the gov first hand.

Either you're a Westerner who doesn't know what you're doing or you're brainwashed by the Chinese government. Oh and another thing. I'm sure the Tibetans and Uyghurs would like a word with you.

I don't hate Russia and I certainly don't hate the North Koreans or Chinese people, just their governments.

Yeah, China might look weird from a Western point of view, yeah they control the medias, yeah they're fucked up from the point of view of most of the civilized countries. But, they aren't bad however, they are just different.

Yeah, I believe it's better to live in the USA where the freedom has no limit and the government is perfect. (sarcasm)

How am I brainwashed when I literally have family and friends who experienced communism and the Chinese government? lol... Frankly I think you're just the victim of what you're accusing me of. Media brainwashing...except in this case Pro-Chinese/Anti-US. Neither are angels but I would prefer the U.S 10/10 times. I'm sure my family and friends who immigrated to the U.S would also agree.

The U.S isn't perfect by any means but at least I DO have more freedom than what I can do in China. Yes, China can make a hospital quickly, so what? That's an advantage of an authoritarian government but for a lot of individuals, it's not great to live in China. It's a collective authoritarian society there. I like how you also left out the Tibetans and Uyghurs.

(Mar 25, 2020 05:33 PM)Roberto Scorpius Malfoy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My disgust for China grows stronger with each passing day the more I reflect on this Clay Davis virus that could have been avoided with fairly simple means. 15,000 have died in the world with almost half a million infected and we have barely started - many, many more to wait, infected as deaths. Because some fugging idiots couldn't stay away from rats, snakes, dogs, bats and other sick fugging crap that they push into themselves.

fugging. Idiots.

This is such a sick time to live in. We are currently suffering from a virus that will not be able to be stopped by other means than existing antiviral drugs that can (or cannot) limit the damage to some extent, herd immunity worldwide with perhaps hundreds millions of dead as a result, a crashed world economy and a vaccine that can at best be used on a full scale only in the summer of 2021, when insane people have already died.

The most surreal and anxiety-ridden in this hell is that people have family members at risk who are likely to be infected sooner or later, and the only thing one can hope for is that they are strong enough to withstand the virus and recover, and not die on a crowded hospital. Going around and having this worry about knowing that it will last for at least 3-6 months is so damn sick.

If China wasn't a important when it comes to delivering a lot of things to other countries, I would easily vote to nuke that Clay Davis country because all the flues and viruses come from that crap country.

I thought from the beginning in my simplicity that people ate bats, antlers and strange monkeys because of poverty, which held back the hatred.

But no, no, it's the opposite. It is a status symbol to invite people home and invite all kinds of exotic animals. Kind of like having a nice car or a pool. The poor eat rice and tofu.

China has really taken off seriously now. Not only are they an overpopulated poison factory, but they have a widespread culture also where hygiene does not exist. Whatever happens now, China's economy will suffer great damage from this. Their reputation has dropped sharply and many companies will stay away from them. That's what I imagine.

What if China offered your government help to send their doctors to save patients on your country together sending test kits and medicines would this change your perspective in life about China?
