Thread: Editing your user title on mobile is weird.

Blazin - March 25, 2020, 9:36 pm

I noticed when your on mobile it's a good design and it's nice but when you want to actually edit your user title ... it's very weird and difficult. me and Scrub were talking about this a few moments ago, He's having the issue now but I had it about a month ago, to the point I just raged and got on PC instead to do it. Maybe there's something I'm missing but when I edit my profile I see options for other stuff but not my user title? If we could add a way to change this a bit quicker I think it would take the mobile platform up a notch.

Thanks for reading.

Yeah that page needs to be touched up. Protip: scroll sideways on mobile on that page.

And don't be afraid to rotate your phone.

You should really add that as a header to the mobile webpage. Would save you a lot of typing over time.

I tend to agree that switching to horizontal mode to enter regular is not entirely intuitive. I also understand it is responsive based on screen size... maybe a simple removable reminder to mobile users that horizontal mode will enable full-site.
