Thread: eWhoring earnings

I've been eWhoring with my own methods for about 3 years now.
Earn all from 1k - 5k a month.

Been taking a vacation for like 3 months now, a break from all.
Going back on, seeking my own methods.
Got a few and this is from my own private methods.

Been on a bunch of different forums. Planning on spending the majority of my time here.
Seeing all the active users and more!
Excited for future earnings.

Planning on selling my methods, tips and tricks.
But everything must be for the right price (Not sure tho!)

Nice earnings man, keep it up! If you plan on selling your methods I advise you to PM one of the experienced and trusted e-whores around here and send them a vouch copy, so they can vouch for you

For sure! Dm me if you would like the vouch someday.
I'm planning on selling it when I get better reputation around the forum :))

Do you think eWhoring is unethical? I'm not taking a stance either way, I'm genuinely curious all deception is unethical but not necessarily illegal. the government is doing this to you daily

+1 Indeed! I wouldn't say it's illegal.

Selling porn, pictures that other girls have been giving to people to do what ever they want too. I don't see how it's suppose to be illegal until you take stuff over hand.

Like meet-up scamming someone that disgusting.

And sad. So I intend to only sell premium. And not meet up scam. Empathy is something that you should take to consideration.

Especially if you were to buy a meet-up with someone. Don't get me wrong. I don't assume your as dumb as they are. Trying to buy a meet-up from someone they don't know well.

But if you were. You wouldn't like to go somewhere and the person never shows up. Just really sad. So I'd rather like to stay selling pics and vids and what not :)) sorry to let you know but if you ever want to be successful in business and ever go far, there is no friendship/empathy/mercy in business. hence the all time famous quote "nothing personal - just business" personally i never did meetup scams but i had contact with people on discord who told me how they did meetup scams. one guy pretty much spammed [BRAND NAME REMOVED] with meetup scams and earned about $30,000 - $50,000 in 1 month or 2. if you take that money and time span into consideration, it might be worth it as long as your morals are low or nonexistent.

It all depends, if you want to do dirty work.

Than sure! No mercy, no empathy. No nothing just take the money and let the shit bag stay there.

I'm not a person who would like to fuck with someone that much.

Considering my premium is on renewal and autopilot. The money will still flow in.

Until he want to cancel his subscription.

But my work takes blood, sweat and tears.

I do take care of my customers for sure.
